

ENGLAND GIVES GERMANY UNTIL MIDNIGHT FOR SATISFACTORY REPLY AS TO BELGIUM

GOLD-LADEN LINER DISGUISES HERSELF, RETURNS TO U. S.

Kronprinzessin Cecilie, With $11,000,000 Metal Creeps Into Bar Harbor, Me., With Lights Masked After Thrilling Trip From Mid-Atlantic.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 4.—The North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie, carrying $10,000,000 gold and whose whereabouts have been a mystery since she sailed from New York last Tuesday, arrived in the harbor here today.

The Cecilie dropped anchor at 10 o'clock this morning after a forced run of four days, her officers fearing capture.

With a cargo of $10,000,000 in gold and a million in silver, consigned to French and English bankers, with an estimated value of over $5,000,000 in herself, the German ship constituted probably the finest sea prize ever open to capture.

Ship Disguises Herself at Sea. As the coast along the Maine coast and into the harbor under the cover of night, each deck, at every porthole, was blanketed with canvas so that not a gleam of light betrayed her whereabouts. Her four stout stacks had been tipped with black paint so that she resembled an English steamship.

At one time capture seemed imminent. Capt. Charles Polach reported on Sunday that he had intercepted a wireless message from the French vessel to another ship, warning of the Cecilie's proximity, but under the protection of a providential fog, the North German Lloyd liner escaped.

The Kronprinzessin Cecilie left New York early last Tuesday morning for Bremen via Plymouth and Cherbourg.

She had 200 first-class, 120 second-class and 700 steerage passengers. About a third of the first-class were Germans called to anticipate the war crisis.

At one time capture seemed imminent. Capt. Charles Polach reported on Sunday that he had intercepted a wireless message from the French vessel to another ship, warning of the Cecilie's proximity, but under the protection of a providential fog, the North German Lloyd liner escaped.

MONEY AND SHIPS WILL BE SENT TO AID OF TOURISTS

Private Funds of Nearly $5,000,000, and a Part of Proposed $2,500,000 Government Appropriation, to Be Carried Abroad on the Tennessee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The United States armored cruiser Tennessee will sail from New York at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, bearing $5,000,000 in gold, for Americans in Europe. The Tennessee's treasure will include nearly $5,000,000 private funds for the cashing of the travelers' checks and letters of credit held by Americans who are now stranded abroad. A large part of this fund has been raised by the American Express Co. and other agencies which issue these checks in large quantities.

The shipment of gold will also include a large part of a $2,500,000 Government relief appropriation, if Congress follows the recommendation of President Wilson and votes such an appropriation immediately. The President sent Congress a special message today asking that this be done.

The $2,500,000 appropriation, the plan for which was decided on by the President and Secretaries Bryan and McAdoo, in conference with bankers and express company officials, will be devoted in part to relieving the necessities of Americans abroad. The rest will be expended in chartering American vessels to bring the Americans home. Army transports, while available for this use, are not suited to the carrying of large numbers of women and children. The vessels chartered for the transatlantic voyage will probably be those of coastwise lines, plying between New York and Boston and the Southern ports of Norfolk, Savannah, Charleston, New Orleans and Galveston.

Can't Leave Germany. No Americans can leave Germany for the present. Through the German Embassy at Newport, the State Department has been pressing the German government to permit departure of foreigners will be permitted to depart.

The German order applies alike to men, women and children, although its purpose is alleged to be to prevent the departure of funds from Germany for military service under pretext of citizenship.

The inclusion of women and children in the decree is explained by apprehension that valuable military information regarding the process of mobilization, and especially the points of concentration of the German army forces, might be conveyed to the enemy by women.

The nations involved in the war will be informed of the purpose for which the gold is being sent to Europe, in order that no complications may follow. Congress will be asked to empower Secretary McAdoo to appoint fiscal agents in Europe to supervise the expenditure of funds there.

A. C. Miller of the Federal Reserve Board will work out the details of the relief plan and trained men from the War Department and Navy Department who are specialists in transportation, will be named to aid him. He will first get in touch with steamship companies to get their co-operation and find what vessels will be available.

Assembling Tourists. The State Department cabled diplomatic and consular officers abroad to assemble all Americans in the countries involved and have them ready to embark for home.

The military attaches at European embassies and legations are to be put to work to facilitate the transportation arrangements.

Miller conferred with Secretary Garrison over the use of army transports. Mr. Garrison explained there were 12 transports at Galveston, three Government-owned, and the others under charter, which could be sent to European ports. The vessels would afford accommodations for thousands, but only a few could be provided with cabin passage.

President Wilson today signed the bill passed yesterday, appropriating the first $5,000,000.

Senator John Sharp Williams introduced a bill to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury, with the approval of the President, to buy any ship belonging to citizens or subjects of any of the belligerent Powers now lying in American ports or hereafter to arrive here for the purpose of shipping abroad foodstuffs already contracted for in this country.

World-Wide Developments in European War Situation

GREAT BRITAIN sent a virtual ultimatum to Germany demanding a reply by midnight on the subject of Belgian neutrality.

King George proclaimed the mobilization of the British army.

Germany is reported to have declared war on Belgium and threatened to annex the Belgian Congo. Germans invaded Belgian territory.

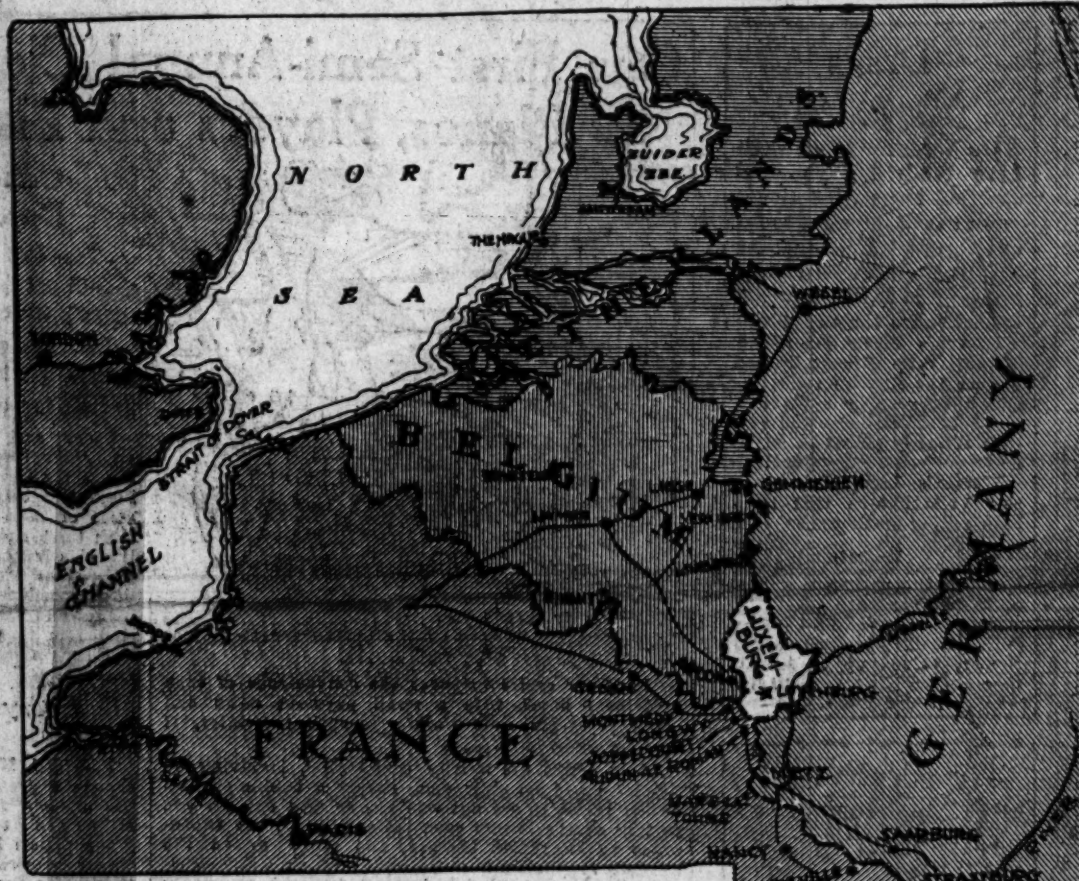

German troops have penetrated French territory near Mars-La-Tour, scene of a bloody battle in 1870.

THE United States Embassy in Paris is to look after German interests in France and after French interests in Austria.

Japan officially declares she may join the war if England be involved in the Far East.

A German cruiser bombarded a French naval station in Algeria and then retired.

The Turkish army, now being mobilized, is under command of Gen. Liman von Sanders, a Prussian officer, who, it is reported, will continue to command it in the event that Turkey should enter the war as the ally of Austria and Germany.

This map shows the scene of the latest movement of German troops toward Paris. While the movement into the grand duchy of Luxemburg and along the frontier of Belgium continues, the latest reports show a general invasion along the southern boundary of France, in the Vosges Mountain region, and in the French territory known as Old Lorraine.

ONLY ONE SHIP SURE TO SAIL THIS WEEK

British and French Liners, Scheduled to Leave New York, May Change Plan.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Three steamships are scheduled to sail from New York for European ports this week. La Lorraine, largest but one of the ships of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique (French Line), is scheduled to sail for Havre at 10 a. m. tomorrow. The Adriatic of the White Star Line, which flies the British flag, is scheduled to sail for Queenstown and Liverpool on Thursday, and the American liner St. Paul is to sail Friday morning for Southampton and Cherbourg. Of these three, the St. Paul, which flies the American flag, is the only one whose departure is considered reasonably certain.

Keep quiet." "But you've got to tell me what you're writing." "An ultimatum. I'm giving Jones 15 hours notice to keep his chickens out of our garden or we'll declare war."

GERMANS AND SLAVS START RUN ON BANK

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—More than 1000 depositors gathered today at the German Savings Bank, one of the largest in the city, forming a line, four abreast for a block and a half.

Each was allowed to withdraw only $10, and those who sought more funds were requested to file the 60-day notice agreed upon by all savings banks in the State.

Most of the depositors of the bank were Germans and Slavs. The run was started, it was said, by the spreading of a rumor that the bank purposed to assist Germany in the present crisis by advancing funds.

Bonaparte Offers His Sword to France, but Law Bars Him

PARIS, Aug. 4.—President Poincaré today received Prince Roland Bonaparte, who placed his services at the disposal of the French Government, offering to join the army as a soldier and to place his residence in the hands of the authorities for hospital purposes. The President thanked the Prince for his offer, but said he was confronted by the terms of the law, which did not permit a member of a former French ruling house to serve in the French army, and this could not now be changed in order to allow the Prince to enlist.

Paris Sees Aeroplanes Speeding for Frontier

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Numerous aeroplanes from the French aviation centers in the west and south moved swiftly over Paris today, in flocks of two, three and five, toward the East. Strings of horses, requisitioned from the private stables, were seen going toward the freight yards of the Eastern Railway lines. Throughout the day troops were arriving from the West and South, and departing in full.

KAISER THREATENS BELGIUM WITH WAR TO ENFORCE DEMAND

Asquith Requests That England Give Same Assurance of Respecting Little Nation's Neutrality That France Has Given—Fliers Busy on Warring Nations' Border.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Great Britain today sent a practical ultimatum to Germany, demanding a satisfactory reply by midnight tonight on the subject of Belgian neutrality.

The House of Commons today voted $5,000,000 for emergency purposes and passed the bill in five minutes without a dissentient voice.

The army and navy are ready for war, public sentiment is prepared for it.

Premier Asquith told the House of Commons that Great Britain had sent to Germany a request that she should give the same assurance of the neutrality of Belgium as France had done, and that reply should be sent to England before midnight.

Asquith said that a telegram had been sent early this morning to Sir Edward Goschen, British Ambassador in Berlin, to the effect that the King of Belgium had appealed to Great Britain for intervention on behalf of Belgium, and that the German Government had delivered to the Belgian Government a note proposing only neutrality pending a free passage of German troops through Belgium, and threatening in case of refusal to treat Belgium as an enemy.

Premier Asquith read a telegram from the German Minister which the German Ambassador in London had sent Sir Edward Grey today. It was as follows:

"Please dispel any distrust that may subsist on the part of the British Government with regard to our intentions by repeating most positively the formal assurance that even in case of armed conflict with Belgium, Germany will under no pretext whatever annex Belgian territory."

The reading of this telegram was greeted with derisive laughter by the members of the House.

The Premier continued: "We understand that Belgium categorically refused to accept a flagrant violation of the law of nations."

His Majesty's Government was bound to protest against violation of a treaty which Germany was a party in common with England and must request an assurance that the demand upon Belgium by Germany be not proceeded with and that Belgium's neutrality be respected by Germany and we have asked an immediate reply.

"We received this morning from our Minister in Brussels the following telegram:

"The German Minister has this morning addressed a note to the Belgian Minister for Foreign Affairs stating that the Belgian Government has declined a well-known proposal submitted to it by the imperial German Government the latter to its regret will be compelled to carry out, if necessary, the measure considered indispensable French menace."

Germany's second ultimatum to Brussels was prepared to carry through her plans by force of arms was Berlin's reply to the speech yesterday of British Foreign Secretary, indicating Britain's support of Belgium.

The British Government was officially informed today that German troops had invaded Belgium in violation of that country's neutrality, which the British yesterday intimated must be followed by action of the British, had become an accomplished fact.

German troops today made a further invasion of Belgium near Verrieres to the east of Liege, according to the French Embassy here from the French legation. John Burns has resigned from the British Government.

German Troops Defeated by the Servians in the First Important Battle

g peace advocate had also determined to leave his colclamation by King George commanding the mobilization of the British army was read today from the steps of the Royal Albert Hall.

A huge crowd cheered and sang the British national anthem.

Midnight London time will be 6 p. m. St. time.)

OKIO, Aug. 4.—The Japanese Foreign Office today issued a statement that if the war extends to the far East and England is involved in it, Japan may find it necessary to participate in the movement of the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—A bill introduced into the German Imperial Diet today providing for the appropriation of $1,250,000,000 to meet the expenses of the war.

Diplomatic Relations Broken Off; War Has Been Declared," Says France

PARIS, Aug. 4.—The French Minister of War today issued the following note:

The German Ambassador has demanded his passports and that the diplomatic relations between France and Germany have been broken off.

The first act of the Germans, according to information from the French Minister of War, was to execute M. Sarrasin, president of the French War Society, who lived in Paris and to imprison all members of that society.

German troops today crossed into French territory near Mars-la-Tour, where one of the most important battles of the Franco-German War was fought, Aug. 16, 1870.

General Joseph Joffre, Commander-in-Chief of the French army, is today at the front.

A German army aeroplane last evening dropped three bombs on the French fortified town of Lunéville, to the southeast of Nancy. Some property damage was caused, but there were no casualties. One of the main thoroughfares was damaged and also a large barn, but nobody was injured.

Dispatches from the frontier today state that the Germans have invaded French territory at two new points, somewhat south of the scene of their first entrance at Longwy. They first entered the town of Belfort, in the Department (County) of Meurthe-et-Moselle, later invaded Cirey, in the same department. This department is the French remnant of the lost Province of Lorraine, and lies along the German border, south of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, on which it also borders for some distance.

German troops today cut the telephone and telegraph wires on French territory along the border. No engagement in force was reported.

Other violations of French territory by small detachments of German troops were reported. Farmers at Lepuix, near Belfort, the Vosges, were visited by German troops who requested their cattle.

Details of the German invasion of Luxembourg have been received here. The German entry was headed by 35 automobiles, with officers, these being followed by cavalry in force.

Before leaving the capital last night the German Ambassador von Schoen, entrusted the affairs of the German Empire and those of Bavaria to the American Ambassador, Myron Herrick, in accordance with instructions received when he was to demand his passports.

Emperor Nicholas has intimated to the Russian Embassy that German reservists in France can serve their country by fighting in French ranks.

The diplomatic relations between France and Germany formed severed last night. Baron von Schoen, the German Ambassador, in an official letter to the French Government, declared that German aviators had flown over German and Belgian territory and in the presence of these premeditated acts by the French, the German Government considered itself in a state of war with France.

Premier Viviani, in reply, protested against the allegations regarding the French aviators, and reminded the German Ambassador that a French presented a note on Saturday last in reference to violation of French territory by Germany.

In reply to the Ambassador's declaration that a state of war existed between France and Germany, Premier Viviani asked the German Government to hand to the French Ambassador in Berlin his passports.

Ambassador Jules Cambon has been instructed, before leaving to protest to the German Government against its violation of French territory and against the presentation of a ultimatum to Belgium.

The French Government intends to introduce into Parliament today several bills to meet the expenses of the war and to regulate business. One of the measures will authorize the Bank of France to increase its note issue to $2,400,000,000. On July 30, notes in circulation amounted to about $1,840,000,000.

This measure is to exempt the Bank of France from paying at coin in exchange for its notes—in other words, as the semi-official summary of the bill says—"to authorize the institution of a new currency."

Belgium Hears Rumor of War Against Her by Germany

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 4.—Rumors were in circulation today that Germany had actually declared war on Belgium.

German troops crossed the frontier at Gemmenich, near the junction of the Dutch, Belgian and German frontiers.

The first German ultimatum to Belgium threatened to treat the country as an enemy and carried the implied intention of Germany to seize Belgian Congo in the event of a refusal to permit German forces to pass through Belgium.

King Albert presided today over a joint session of the Belgian Chamber and Chamber of Deputies. In the course of an address he declared that never since 1830 had a graver situation confronted the country. He said it was imperative that every Belgian should do his duty and resign himself to every sacrifice necessary in order to prevent the violation of Belgium.

and is in danger," the King proceeded. "Let me tell you, my brothers. At this supreme hour the fate of Belgium is in the hands of the Belgian people. I have called together the two chambers, so that they may support the Government and we will maintain untarnished the sacred patriots' flag. Long live independent Belgium!"

stirring enthusiasm followed. Deputies and Senators shouted in chorus the closing words of King Albert's address.

Broqueville then made a statement as to Germany's ultimatum and the reply of Belgium, declaring that the country would not sacrifice its honor and that the result by every means in its power all encroachments on its territory.

Belgium, upon this land of ours, is in danger. Upon this land of ours, is in danger. Upon this land of ours, is in danger.

submit. Belgium, supported by the united energy of her sons, will not perish."

Austrians Severely Beaten in Hard Battle With Servians

PARIS, Aug. 4.—A dispatch from Nish, Servia, to the Matin says the Austrian troops were defeated with heavy losses in a battle against the Servians on Sunday, near Semendria.

The regiments of Austrian infantry, comprising nearly 10,000 men, supported by heavy artillery, advanced against the Servians, but were repulsed, leaving many of their number dead and wounded on the field. A large force of Austrian troops, aided by a flotilla of monitors, composed of 20 vessels, has been trying for the last six days to cross the River Save into Servian territory, but has not succeeded in landing.

GERMANY NOTIFIES U. S. OF "STATE OF WAR" WITH FRANCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The German Embassy served notice on the United States today that a "state of war" exists between France and Germany. It is tantamount to a declaration of war, but technically different.

President Wilson, soon after Germany's notice was received, issued a proclamation of neutrality.

The notice from the German counselor at Newport is virtually the same as the announcement in Berlin last night by the German Premier, in which he sought to place on France full responsibility for the beginning of hostilities.

The notice justifies the United States and other neutral countries in the issue of formal proclamation of neutrality and sets in motion all the legal machinery necessary to empower the German Government to proceed as in the case of an actual declaration of war.

The only difference noted here between the two forms is that the "state of war" announcement still relieves the German Government of liability for the beginning of hostilities such as would be carried by the issue of a formal declaration of war, a point which will figure largely in the negotiations which must close hostilities in the end.

U. S. Maritime Provisions. A resolution directing President Wilson to approach the warring nations of Europe with an offer of good offices of this Government was introduced today by Senator McChamber and referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. He will ask for a favorable report tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—Great Britain, through a cablegram forwarded by the London Corn Trades Association to Frank E. Marshall of this city, secretary of the American Grain Association, agreed to pay all war risks on grain shipped from the continent of North America in British bottoms and line steamships bound for England.

To the American exporter of grain the decision of Great Britain to assume the prohibitive war charges, which in some instances have been quoted as high as 10 per cent, solved a problem which for a week or more caused stagnation in the export business and threatened ruin to those exporters who made contracts to deliver in the current and succeeding months, hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain at a time when the danger of war was remote. The determination of England to guarantee shipments was interpreted to mean that England intended to maintain its commercial supremacy, even should it be compelled to use its fighting force to convoy shipments across the Atlantic.

The guarantee made to American shippers will release upward of $50,000,000 of bushels of grain booked for delivery to the United Kingdom.

GERMANS HAVE OCCUPIED THREE IMPORTANT TOWNS IN POLAND.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—The German border troops from Lublitz, Silesia, yesterday, after a short skirmish with Russians, took possession of Czenstochowa, Russian Poland.

Bendzin and Kallisz, Russian Poland, also have been occupied by the Germans.

Czenstochowa is a city of about 50,000 inhabitants on the River Warta, near the Silesian frontier. It is noted chiefly for its manufactures of woolen and cotton cloths and paper. A picture of the Virgin in a noted convent there attracts thousands of pilgrims annually.

Bendzin is a coal and iron mining center. It has a population of slightly more than 20,000, about half of whom are Jews.

Kallisz is the capital of the province of the same name. It is the most western city in Russian Poland. Its population of 25,000 is engaged in various manufactures.

GERMANS BOMBARD A FRENCH NAVAL STATION IN ALGERIA.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The German cruiser, Breslau, bombarded the French naval station of Bone, Algeria, at 4 o'clock this morning, afterward steaming off at full speed in a westerly direction, according to a dispatch received at the French Embassy here.

GERMAN GARRISON REPULSES RUSSIAN FRONTIER GUARDS.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—A body of Russian frontier guards from Krottingen was driven back yesterday by a part of the garrison of the German seaport of Memel, the most northerly town in Germany.

GERMAN VICTORY IN BALTIC SEA NOW IS DOUBTED

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Some doubt has been thrown on the report, contained in a Stockholm dispatch yesterday, of a German naval victory over Russia off the Aland Islands in the Baltic. A Copenhagen dispatch today states that a Russian warship is aground at Oland Island, and that it is believed to be the Andrei Pavlovich of 17,400 tons.

The Stockholm report, which thus far has had no confirmation, aside from the Copenhagen dispatch, was that the German and Russian fleets met off the Aland Islands, and that the Russians were driven back, and took refuge in the Gulf of Finland, where they were left bottled up.

Such a victory would be of great value to Germany, naval experts here say. The Aland Islands are considered strategically, the outer defense of St. Petersburg. A German fleet lying in the security of these islands would command the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, and would command also the sea route to St. Petersburg, Reval and Cronstadt, the last named being the chief Russian naval station.

There is also a possibility that the appearance of the Germans might lead to a Finnish uprising against Russia, and that Sweden might join Germany to remove the Russian menace to Swedish nationality.

The Aland Islands were transferred from Sweden to Russia in 1809, but by the terms of the treaty Russia was forbidden to fortify them. Russia sought in 1858, permission to fortify the islands, but the other powers refused their consent, chiefly because Russia was suspected of designs on Sweden.

"Are You for or Against Us?"

Germany's Request of Sweden STOCKHOLM, Aug. 4.—It was stated today that both Germany and Russia made inquiries Sunday as to whether Sweden would remain neutral. Germany's note was brief, merely demanding to know whether Sweden was "for or against us."

The Ministers declined to say whether a reply was given, but they are preparing to defend the nation's neutrality. The German ultimatum to Belgium made a deep impression here, and it is believed that if a similar ultimatum were addressed to Sweden she would follow the Belgian example in refusing to aid Germany.

NEUTRALITY OF THE UNITED STATES IS PROCLAIMED

President Wilson Issues a Decree Detailing Acts Forbidden by Penal Code.

MANY RULES FOR SHIPS

Belligerents' Vessels Required to Depart From America in 24 Hours.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The proclamation of neutrality issued today by the President, after setting forth that "a state of war unhappily exists between Austria-Hungary and Serbia and between Germany and France" and that "the United States is on terms of friendship and amity with the contending powers," says:

"I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, in order to preserve the neutrality of the United States and of its citizens and of persons within its territory and jurisdiction and to enforce its laws and treaties, and in order that all persons, being warned of the general tenor of the laws and treaties of the United States in this behalf, and of the law of nations, may thus be prevented from any violation of the same, do hereby declare and proclaim that by certain provisions of the act approved on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1909, commonly known as the penal code of the United States, the following acts are forbidden to be done, under severe penalties, within the territory and jurisdiction of the United States, to wit:

"1. Accepting and exercising a commission to serve either of the said belligerents by land or by sea against the other belligerent.

"2. Enlisting or entering into the service of either of the said belligerents as a soldier, or as a marine, or seaman on board of any vessel or war, letter of marque, or privateer.

"3. Hiring or retaining another person to enlist or enter himself in the service of either of the said belligerents as a soldier, or as a marine, or seaman on board of any vessel of war, letter of marque, or privateer.

"4. Hiring another person to go beyond the limits or jurisdiction of the United States with intent to be enlisted as aforesaid.

"5. Hiring another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be entered into service as aforesaid.

"6. Retaining another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be enlisted as aforesaid.

"7. Retaining another person to go beyond the limits of the United States with intent to be entered into service as aforesaid.

"8. Issuing or delivering a commission within the territory or jurisdiction of the United States for any ship or vessel to the intent that she may be employed as aforesaid.

"9. Increasing or augmenting, or procuring to be increased or augmented, or knowingly being concerned in increasing or augmenting, the force of any ship or vessel with intent that such ship or vessel shall be employed in the service of either of the said belligerents.

"10. Beginning or setting on foot or providing or preparing the means for any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on from the territory or jurisdiction of the United States against the territories or dominions of either of the said belligerents.

"11. Beginning or setting on foot or providing or preparing the means for any military expedition or enterprise to be carried on from the territory or jurisdiction of the United States against the territories or dominions of either of the said belligerents.

German Army Organization; Terms Figuring in the News

THE unit of the German army is the company in infantry, the eskadron in cavalry and the battery in artillery. The strength of an infantry company on a war footing is 251 men. There are four companies in a battalion and three battalions in a regiment. The cavalry eskadron, or squadron, has 150 men and there are four companies in a regiment. A battery consists of 165 men and six guns.

A German corps has two divisions, each consisting of two infantry brigades, one cavalry brigade and one artillery brigade, in addition to a corps of engineers and a commissary department. Each brigade has two regiments of infantry or cavalry, with artillery.

The Uhlans are a branch of cavalry corresponding to the lancers in English regiments. The German cavalry also has dragoons, hussars and cuirassiers. These four kinds of cavalry differ in uniform, arms and drilling. Some of the regiments bear the names of foreign sovereigns and other members of European royalty and nobility. The names are merely complimentary and have no significance in war. This is the case with the German regiment named the Emperor Alexander III of Russia's Uhlans, in compliment to a former Czar, now the first of the German troops to invade Russian Poland.

Cables From America to Europe Are in Danger of Being Cut

ALTHOUGH all the cables between the United States and Europe are protected upon the high seas by international treaties and agreements, they are entirely within the jurisdiction of European Governments when they reach soundings within the three-mile limit on the other side. Within that limit they may be cut at the pleasure of the Government controlling the territory at the terminal.

The fact that many of the cables are privately owned would not prevent them being cut, officials here believe, although international agreements provide severe penalties. In the necessities of war, they point out, a belligerent country probably would cut a cable if it accrued to its advantage and pay the penalty afterward.

Gold-Laden Liner Disguises Herself, Returns to U. S.

Bar Harbor today he received a long line of passengers, who congratulated him on his achievement. Capt. Pollock is a Lieutenant-Commander in the German naval reserves.

Col. G. F. B. Cobett, an English military officer whose chagrin at not being able to join the army was apparent to everyone on board, was one of the few Englishmen on the ship. There were a number of German officers.

Oral duels and miniature international warfare in the smoking rooms helped to divert the minds of the passengers who were inclined to misgivings.

To some, sleep was impossible. The dark, foggy nights were long and dreary. The morning's sun burned its way through the mist that had hung over the North Atlantic. The only gleam of light that relieved the dead blackness was where the ship's friction stirred the sea into phosphorescence.

The pool on the time of arrival in Plymouth was changed to gambling on the American port into which the ship would go. Last night the betting was even on landing on the New England coast. Gov. Miller of Delaware believed Newport would be the landing place, then New York began to be a favorite. Boston, Portland and ports as far south as Hampton Roads also figured. Meanwhile the Captain shrugged his shoulders and was non-committal.

At 9 o'clock today the ship was waiting the arrival of boarding officers. Among the passengers were Congressmen A. J. Bachfield of Pennsylvania, Congressman Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, C. Ledard Blair of New York, Gov. Charles R. Miller of Delaware and Samuel Newhouse, the copper magnate of Utah and New York. Congressman Bartholdt was on his way to Europe to attend the great peace meeting of the International Parliamentary Union.

Kronprinz Wilhelm Sails With Coal NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The destination of the steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd Line, which left this port last night with a cargo of coal and miscellaneous stores, was a subject of speculation in marine circles today.

The steamer after clearing Sandy Hook, had only her running lights burning and was headed in a southerly direction instead of northeasterly, which is the usual course for steamships bound for Europe.

The southerly route taken and the fact that the steamer had about 2000 tons more coal than she would need to cross the Atlantic besides sea stores, led to reports that she was going to sea to transfer supplies and fuel to the German cruisers Dresden, Strassburg and Karlsruhe, which have been reported as hovering in American waters.

The departure of the Wilhelm, it was feared in some quarters, might involve the United States in a neutrality controversy, but authorities here agreed that gross negligence would have to be shown; also that the ship carried war materials.

American Overwhelmed With Orders for Meat LONDON, Aug. 4.—American firms with offices in London were overwhelmed today with orders for canned meats. The prices quoted for this article of consumption have jumped from 10 to 20 per cent in the last few days.

MAHAN PREDICTS BRITAIN AND ITALY WILL AID RUSSIA

Naval Authority Says Germany's Ambitions Should Interest Americans.

BRITISH NAVY SUPERIOR

Rear Admiral Thinks Turkey and Bulgaria Can Be Held in Check.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Stating his belief that Europe is one of calculated aggressiveness on Germany's part, and expressing the opinion that Great Britain, if it appreciates the situation, will declare war at once, Rear Admiral Alfred T. Mahan, retired, recognized as an authority on naval affairs, advanced in an interview here the theory that Italy will be compelled to enter the fight against Austria and Germany.

Admiral Mahan regards Germany's actions as inexcusable, and thinks the Kaiser's absence from Berlin, when Austria presented her ultimatum to Serbia, was intended to deceive. He speaks of the "aggressive insolence" of Austria's ultimatum, and says its character, in view of Serbia's concessions, "indicate that the real cause of the war is other than set forth by the ultimatum."

Knowing how Russia would view the act, says the Admiral, it is incredible that Austria would have taken the step she did take, unless assured in advance of the consent of Germany.

"The inference is irresistible that the substance of the ultimatum was the prelude for a pre-determined one, as soon as plausible occasion offered," says the Admiral, who then asserted that this pre-determination was due to the growing strength of Russia since the Russo-Japanese war, and the increasing size of the Russian fleet.

Germany Must Hasten. Great Britain now finds herself, the Admiral continued, in the position of Prussia in 1866, when she allowed Napoleon to strike down Austria, and was herself struck down at Jena a year later, or in the position of France in 1870, when she allowed Prussia to crush Austria, to be overwhelmed herself in 1871. The Admiral continued: "Germany's procedure to overwhelm at once by concentrated preparation and impetuous momentum. If she fails in this, she is less able to sustain prolonged aggression, as was indicated in the Franco-Prussian war during and after the siege of Paris."

"In that case," he said, "the world will be confronted by the naval power of a state not, like Great Britain, sated with territory, but one eager and ambitious for expansion, eager also for influence, and whose action may well affect American sympathies."

The Admiral continues: "In my judgment, a right appreciation of the situation should determine Great Britain to declare war at once. Otherwise her entire engagement, whatever the letter, will be in spirit violated, and she will earn the entire distrust of all probable future allies."

"Italy likewise owes it to herself to declare war against her recent ally, Germany, in co-operation with France and Greece, reinforced by the two American battlefleets just purchased, she can doubtless maintain the balance of maritime power in the Mediterranean, prevent the Turks giving their expected support to Germany, keep the Adriatic in their hands, and so ill-advised as to purpose a diversion in favor of Austria, and, in brief, consolidate the opposition of the Balkan States to Austria-Hungary, whose ambitions are notoriously inconsistent with those of Italy."

Word may be expected at any minute of a great naval engagement between the German and the British fleets, the Admiral said, adding "And we should expect the British fleet to win."

The Kiel canal, he went on, will be used in German naval strategy. The Germans must strike immediately, he says, for fear of blockade. He does not believe the suggestion that Germany might demonstrate with her fleet in the Baltic is tenable, and says nothing could be accomplished there. The Russian fleet he classifies as negligible, and under modern conditions, he adds, no nation can afford to waste its naval operations against fortifications.

The most important of the tests of the modern theories of warfare, which will result from the present conflict, Admiral Mahan thinks, will be that of the increased efficiency of submarines and torpedoes. He believes the British fleet is now in the North Sea, just out of range of submarines. The mooted question of the comparative efficiency of big guns will be thoroughly tested, he thinks.

AMERICANS WITHOUT CASH TRAVEL IN "FLOATING HELLS"

English Channel Boats Thus Described by Tourists Who Besiege Embassy Hoping to Get Home.

BY LOUIS REIBOLD, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1914, by Press Pub. Co. (New York World).

LONDON, Aug. 4.—The English Channel boats bearing American refugees from the Continent are described as "floating hells."

London is excited over the war and holiday spirit, and overrun with 500 citizens of the United States, tearfully pleading with the American Ambassador for money and transportation home or assurances of personal safety.

Admiral Mahan regards Germany's actions as inexcusable, and thinks the Kaiser's absence from Berlin, when Austria presented her ultimatum to Serbia, was intended to deceive. He speaks of the "aggressive insolence" of Austria's ultimatum, and says its character, in view of Serbia's concessions, "indicate that the real cause of the war is other than set forth by the ultimatum."

as soon as possible. That the Government will act, I have not the slightest doubt. I am confident that Washington will do everything in its power for relief, but how soon I cannot tell.

"I have heard many distressing tales during the last 48 hours."

Money Gave. The throng that filled the Ambassador's office, the first-floor flat in a building on Victoria street, was mainly composed of women, school teachers, art students and other persons doing Europe "on a shoestring." Many were entirely out of money, with limited securities that are not negotiable.

The Ambassador expressed the opinion in a talk to them that the steamship companies will redeem their return tickets, giving them money upon which to live, also that the express companies will cash orders on resumption of business, possibly tomorrow. He could not say more. The action of the British Government in extending the bank holiday until Thursday was discouraging news for new arrivals from the Continent.

One of the circumstances adding to the distress of the refugees is the action of some hotels in discontinuing the practice of signing checks for meals—in other words, withdrawing the impossible to get a 5-penny other note, calling for a 5-penny change. Americans are irritated against this in this respect, as those whose wealth runs away fished change but are being permitted to sign checks.

American currency is not anywhere, even at the disco 3 per cent prevailing to date. Many Americans are holding stores of British gold and silver for a siege, and are in fashionable hotels to cheaper others are seeking boarding while maintaining a cheerful, they appreciate the serious situation.

GERMANY CHARGES CZAR AND FRANCE BEGAN HOSTILITIES

"White Book" Says Russia Invaded Fatherland Before War Was Declared.

TELEGRAMS PUBLISHED

Emperor Nicholas Says His People Must Protect Serbia and Themselves.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—Responsibility for the war in which Germany, Russia and France are now engaged is placed squarely upon the shoulders of Emperor Nicholas in the White Book issued by the German Government and given prominence in the press today. While negotiations looking to a peaceful way out of the difficulties were pending Russia, it is charged, invaded Germany and a few hours later France opened hostilities.

The German Emperor, it is set forth, in response to the suggestion from London and the appeal of the Russian monarch, was using his influence at Vienna to satisfy Russia regarding the intentions of Austria in Serbia, but in that very hour Russia was mobilizing her army.

Ultimatums Were Sent. After a fruitless appeal to Emperor Nicholas to abandon his warlike preparations and so avert a peril to civilization, the German Government, on the afternoon of July 31, instructed its Ambassador at St. Petersburg to give notice that Germany would mobilize unless Russia suspended her military measures inside of 12 hours. At the same time, France was given 18 hours in which to declare whether she would remain neutral in a war between Russia and Germany. The White Book continues:

"The Imperial Ambassador in St. Petersburg made the communication entrusted to him to M. Sazonoff (the Russian Minister of Foreign Affairs) at midnight on July 31. After the time set for Russia had expired without the receipt of an answer to our question, His Majesty, the Emperor, at 5 p. m. on Aug. 1 ordered the mobilization of the whole German army and the Imperial navy.

"The Imperial Ambassador in St. Petersburg had meanwhile received a commission to communicate to the Russian Government a declaration of war in the event that the Russian Government should not give a satisfactory answer within the period allotted it. But before a report of the execution of this commission had arrived Russian troops crossed our frontier on the afternoon of Aug. 1, and advanced on German territory. From this time on Russia has furthered the war against us.

"In the meantime the Imperial Ambassador in Paris had placed the inquiry with which he was commissioned before the French Cabinet at 7 p. m. on July 31. On Aug. 1 at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the French Prime Minister communicated an ambiguous and unsatisfactory answer, which gave no clear idea regarding the attitude of France as the author confined himself to declaring that France would do what her interests bade her to do.

"A few hours later, at 5 p. m., the mobilization of the entire French army and navy was ordered. On the morning of the next day France opened hostilities."

Germany Blames France. A further official communication regarding French acts of hostility against Germany was published here last night. It said:

"The German troops hitherto have obeyed the orders given by the German commanders not to cross the French frontier. French troops, on the contrary since yesterday have made several attacks on the frontier posts without any declaration of war having been made.

"The French have crossed the frontier at several places in spite of the fact that the French Government a few days ago informed us that it would not infringe on the unoccupied zone of six miles from the frontier and since last night companies of French troops have been in the occupation of a number of German villages.

"French army aeroplanes have been flying over Baden and Bavaria yesterday and today throwing bombs, and have violated Belgium neutrality by flying over Belgian territory into the province of the Rhine in an effort to destroy our railways.

"In this way France has opened the attack upon us and has established a state of war, which has compelled the German Empire to take defensive measures for the security of its territory."

Czar's Message to Kaiser. The Russian Emperor July 31 sent the following telegram to the German Emperor:

"I thank thee from my heart for this mediation, which leaves a gleam of hope that even now all may end peacefully. It is technically impossible to discontinue our military operation, which has been rendered necessary by Austrian mobilization. We are far from wishing for war and so long as negotiations with Austria regarding Serbia continue, my troops will not undertake any provocative action.

"I give thee my word upon it and I trust with my strength in God's grace and hope for the success of this mediation at Vienna and for our countries and the peace of Europe."

German Emperor's Reply.

To this the German Emperor replied: "In answer to thy appeal to my friendship and thy prayer for my help: I undertook mediatory action between the Austro-Hungarian Government and thine. While this action was in progress thy troops were mobilized against my ally, Austria-Hungary, in consequence of which, as I have already informed thee, my mediation was rendered nearly illusory. Nevertheless, it continued, but now I am in possession of trustworthy advice concerning the

RAILROAD MEN SIGN AGREEMENT FOR ARBITRATION

Representatives of 98 Roads and 60,000 Engineers and Firemen Assure Peace.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Peace in the railroad world west of the Mississippi River for the next 15 months at least was assured early today when representatives of 98 railroads and 60,000 engineers and firemen signed an agreement to submit their differences to arbitration.

It was the culminating act in efforts of the Federal Board of Mediation to avert what President Wilson characterized as a "national disaster," and followed the President's appeal to the railroads to place patriotism above property interests.

They agreed to arbitration under a plan already approved by the mediators and the employees, although they realized, and President Wilson pointed out, that all the merits of their case could not be considered.

When the Board of Arbitration is organized its hearings will take place in Chicago. The railroads and the employees immediately will name two arbitrators each, and they will select two others. If they fail to agree on that point, the Board of Mediation will act. The hearings must be begun within 30 days after organization of the boards, and its award must be made within the next 90 days. It will become effective 10 days later and continue for one year.

The questions to be submitted to the board are the original demands of the employees contained in their communication to the railroads last October. Counter claims of the railroads are withdrawn. The wage schedules and working rules in effect last October are restored, and they cannot be adversely affected, so far as the employees are concerned, by any award of the arbitrators.

LEAGUE OFFICIAL SAYS KICKS DIDN'T MAKE BIRGE QUIT

Resignation as Head of Voters' Organization Was Offered in June, He Asserts.

Widespread complaint by candidates who failed to receive the endorsement of the Municipal Voters League and the resignation of President Walter W. Birge, brought forth a statement from Luther Ely Smith, the secretary, that Birge's resignation was not due to any disagreement over the endorsement of candidates.

Smith had a letter dated June 30 and signed by Birge asking that some other person be selected to take charge of the committee's work because his business would require him to be away from the city much of the time before the primary.

"Mr. Birge did help out in the work even after writing the letter," Smith said, "because he did not wish to be thought of as having resigned. When thought to be done he resigned. There was no discussion, and his resignation is due solely to the fact that his business takes him away from St. Louis."

"The committee realizes that it cannot expect to have the good wishes of those candidates who are not recommended by it. There has been complaint that we have not published the records of the candidates and that we have only printed conclusions drawn by us. We considered it useless to print the records of 389 candidates. We did not believe people would read them."

"In the general election when there are only two or three candidates for each office, we print the records."

"The reason that we have not recommended to the voters a choice of two or more good men where there are several good men running for an office is that we believe that the only way to defeat bad men running against several good men is to recommend the man we believe from all our information would make the best officer. That is what we have done. If the voter was told that any of several good men would do, the probabilities are that the bad man would win."

The league's committee is composed of Smith, Alexander Galt, William A. Block, Frank P. Crunden, E. A. Hildenbrand, E. V. P. Schneider and Benjamin A. Wood. This committee decides which candidates will be endorsed. John F. O'Donnell and William J. Jones, both lawyers, who are candidates for Justice of the Peace in the Eighth District, complained that they were not being treated fairly by the Municipal Voters League, which endorsed George Grassmuck, a harness maker, and made no inquiries, they asserted, of the persons they gave as references and ignored them in making its recommendations.

O'Donnell gave the names of five men. Only one was questioned by the League, and he gave a favorable report on O'Donnell. Jones gave the names of eight men; none were questioned, he says.

O'Donnell is a member of the National Guard and of the Knights of Pythias. Jones is a member of several organizations.

R. B. Haughton, who is a candidate for the Circuit bench, thinks he has not been treated fairly by the League, which named three of the eight candidates as the "best men" for the bench.

It is the first time, he says, that the recommendations of the league have been limited to the number to be elected. Heretofore it has recommended more than the number to be elected, so that voters could take their choice. He thinks, too, that the league, instead of recommending any of the candidates, should simply give their records and let the voters do the picking.

Haughton was formerly a Justice of the Peace, and thinks that his experience adds to his qualifications for the Circuit bench.

CHILD FRACTURES SKULL IN FALL FROM PORCH

Helen Batsky, 2 Years Old, Loses Balance on Stool and Drops Ten Feet.

Helen Batsky, 2 years old, fell from the back porch of her home, 2108 Division street, a distance of about 10 feet, Tuesday morning, and was seriously injured. She was standing on a stool when she lost her balance.

Her mother, Mrs. Joseph Batsky, picked her up and ran to the Physicians' and Surgeons' Dispensary, at Jefferson avenue and Gamble street, but being unable to get in there, took her to the Dayton Street Police Station, from where she was taken to the city hospital.

The child suffered a fracture of the skull and internal injuries, hospital doctors said.

400 CHICAGO TEACHERS MAROONED IN EUROPE

Mrs. Young, Superintendent, and companion Can't Be Reached by Messages to Berlin.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Chicago schools will suffer because of the absence of a large number of teachers, marooned in Europe by war conditions, unless the transport of noncombatants out of the scene of action is arranged for. More than 400 teachers from this city are in Europe, and attempts to get into communication with them have failed. Among those missing are Mrs. Ella Flag Young, superintendent of Chicago schools, and her traveling companion, Mrs. Gertrude How Britton, who are thought to be in Berlin.

A special dispatch from London today said the Terminus Inspection Committee of the Chicago City Council, with whom Mrs. Young and Mrs. Britton had been traveling, has been unable to get word from either since they went to Germany.

NO PROSECUTION FOR TACKLING CARDS ON POLE

Case of Man Working for Candidate Dismissed by Assistant City Attorney.

Assistant City Attorney Norman J. Burd on Tuesday ordered the dismissal of a case in the Dayton Street Police Court against John Thomas of 5014A Kensington avenue, who was arrested Monday night when tackling on telephone poles cards urging the nomination of Judge Karl Kimmel for the office of Circuit Judge.

Thomas was arrested at Taylor avenue and Suburban tracks. Policeman Hecke, who made the arrest, said that Thomas refused to stop putting up cards. Sadler was not in court. Harry Seidel, his associate, said that, in dismissing the case, he acted on telephone instructions from Sadler.

DESCENDING ELEVATOR FRACTURES MAN'S JAW

Workman Is Struck on Head While Calling to Companion in Basement.

August Harting, 34 years old, of 1800 Burd avenue, a compounder for the Hewitt Distillery Co., in the Publicity Building, Eleventh and Pine streets, was injured Tuesday morning by the freight elevator in the building. He had gone to the elevator shaft on the 8th floor to call down to a man in the basement when the car, in charge of C. J. came down and struck him. His jaw was fractured and his head lacerated. He was taken to the hospital.

Earth Shock at Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 4.—A very earth shock was felt here yesterday and caused considerable alarm. The damage, however, was reported to the elevator shaft on the 8th floor to call down to a man in the basement when the car, in charge of C. J. came down and struck him. His jaw was fractured and his head lacerated. He was taken to the hospital.

Another Remarkable Sale Wednesday of

New Basque Dresses

ANOTHER lot of these most charming Fall models will be placed on sale Wednesday, and only because of special arrangements with prominent makers are we able to provide such unusual values. The great vogue of BASQUE DRESSES and models designed on similar lines will have a tendency to arouse the keenest interest in these special values.

Basque Dresses

Special at $10.00

THIS special group includes six distinctive models, three of which are here shown. Basque styles predominate, but the other fashions are also in great favor. They are made of splendid quality, blue or black silk satin, a few in colors and white, also white silk crepe de chine. By special arrangement with the manufacturers, and our willingness to make a concession of our usual profit, enables us to quote unusually low prices on these new dress modes—choice at.....

REBELS REPORTED WITHIN 18 MILES OF MEXICO CITY

Ranch Owner Flees to Capital in Auto to Warn Inhabitants of Advance.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 4.—That the advance guard of the Constitutionalists is only about eighteen miles north of the capital was the news brought to the city today by Mariano Munoz, owner of the hacienda La Concepcion, situated between Telolo Yucatan and Cuautlan, on the line of the Mexican Central. Munoz says the Constitutionalists were seen approaching the hacienda at 5:30 and he immediately started for the city in an automobile. Owing to the hurry with which he left he did not inquire what command the rebels belonged to.

Washington Awaits Explanation of

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Administration officials today awaited an explanation of the announcement from Batillo that Carranza had ordered an advance of 70,000 Constitutional troops on Mexico City. With the beginning of conferences at Batillo for the transfer of power in the Federal capital, it had been understood an armistice would be agreed to.

Provisional President Carballo yesterday asked the American Government informally, through Jose Castellot, if it knew the intentions of Gen. Carranza. Castellot was at a loss to understand the advance on Mexico City.

Washington officials did not believe Carranza would ignore previous plans for a peaceful transition of government in Mexico City because American recognition would be withheld if the capital were taken by fighting.

Constitutionalist agents today gave out a statement by Carranza which said in part:

"As to foreign residents in Mexico and foreign interests having investments here, my attitude has been and will be one of genuine cordiality. Any person who has suffered damages on account of the revolution and files a claim for such shall have his due consideration, and if found to be just, will be paid as I set forth in the decree of May 23, 1913. My action in this regard will be the same toward all nations, irrespective of the fact that some foreign countries have been openly hostile toward the Constitutionalists.

"Fortunately, the Government of the United States, always a friend of liberty and a supporter of justice, has been in sympathy with the righteous aims of the revolution and its great moral support has been of incalculable aid to the Constitutional cause."

CAR KILLS BOY WHO TRIES TO CROSS TRACK

Motorman Says Lad Jumped From Wagon Just in Front of Car.

PHILIP COSMONT, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Della Cosmont of 4874 South Broadway, was struck and killed by a Broadway car Monday afternoon in the front of the Cosmont home. He was dragged by the car.

The boy had been riding on a wagon and jumped from the rear of the wagon when it arrived opposite his home. He started to run across the car tracks. The motorman, Charles Shelton of 6183 Minerva avenue, said he did not see the boy until the car was almost upon him, and that there was no opportunity to stop the car.

The boy's mother was informed by neighbors of the accident and collapsed when the body of the boy was carried into the house. The motorman and the conductor, Charles Brigham of 811 Gano avenue, were taken to Carondelet Police Station and were released after they had made statements of the details of the accident.

Lammert's August Clearing Sale

THRONGS bought spiritedly Monday and Tuesday, the first days of our 1914 August Clearing Sale, but even greater crowds of eager buyers are expected tomorrow since news has gone round of the unequalled bargains prevailing on every class and kind of furniture during this sale.

EVERY PIECE OF FURNITURE ON OUR FLOORS HAS BEEN RADICALLY REDUCED, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF SECTIONAL BOOKCASES AND BUSINESS FURNITURE, AND IN MANY CASES THE REDUCTIONS ARE AS TREMENDOUS AS 25, 33 1/2, 40 AND EVEN 50%. THESE PIECES WERE NOT BOUGHT FOR A "SALE"—THEY COMPRISE OUR REGULAR CELEBRATED LINES, THE PRODUCTS OF SUCH FAMOUS MAKERS AS BERKEY & GAY, ROYAL, RETTING, GUSTAV STICKLEY, IMPERIAL AND OTHERS OF FIRST WATER.

Young couples going to housekeeping within the next year—you, who are building new homes or moving and will need just a few pieces—you who expect to refurbish your entire home—this sale affords you opportunities of economy of the most emphatic nature.

DURING THIS SALE OUR STORE WILL BE OPEN FROM 8 TO 5, INCLUDING SATURDAY.

Teething time is hard enough on the babies, without having to be neglected,

Anty Drudge Tells How to Help Baby

Mrs. Youngmother—"Oh, Anty Drudge, I am so tired and nervous! Baby has been crying for half an hour, and I am in the midst of my washing, and can't take her up to stop her. I am nearly distracted with this hot kitchen, and I think it makes her feel sick, too."

Anty Drudge—"Give me the baby, and let me get her out of this steaming, smoky, hot place. I will mind her while you finish your wash. Then you come sit down while I tell you how in the future you can avoid anything like this by using Fels-Naptha Soap."

too. But what is a busy, tired woman to do? She has so much work she must do, that the baby must be left to cry and fret until it is done. Every mother knows how hard it is to want to comfort the little dears, and not have the time to do it.

But babies can be kept happy and mothers rested and well if women will use the easy-way soap to help them with their housework. Fels-Naptha is the easy-way soap, because it is the cool-water, no-hard-rubbing soap. It cleans everything 'it touches, dissolves dirt, takes out stains, removes grease; and all this in cool or lukewarm water.

Alex Malcom, a Scotchman, of 628 Shannon avenue, although past the half-century milestone of life, was full of the Highland fire when he met Albert Ward of Teutonic extraction, in a saloon of Julius Gross, 319 Morgan-ford road, Monday night. Ward is 29 years old and lives at 3211 Keokuk street.

"These Scotch canna fight a Scot," he remarked to Gross for Ward's benefit. "I can't wallop the daylights out of William the Grocer's whole pretzel factory."

Ward called for a beer and then invited Malcom outside. After the fight was over, Gross and Albert Behave of 4133 Wyoming street gave Ward the decision. The latter surrendered to the police.

Takes Poison for Headache.
Mrs. Gertrude M. Stockton, 23 years old, who was taken to the city hospital from 3108 Lucas avenue Monday afternoon, after having swallowed morphine, denied Tuesday that she had wanted to kill herself. She said she took the tablets to relieve a headache.

CAMPBELL ESTATE
STOCKS SHRINK
OVER $10,000,000Inventory Shows Par Value of Personal Property Is $16,896,805.

REALTY IS $3,500,000

Total Value of Property at Present Levels Is Only About $10,000,000.

Seven items in the inventory of the estate of James Campbell, filed for probate late Monday afternoon, show a total depreciation of more than $10,000,- 000 below the par value at which they were listed in the inventory. The par value of Campbell's personal property, according to the inventory, is $16,896,- 805.40.

Few items in the Campbell holdings of stocks and bonds are now above par value. Some are far below and others are regarded as without any present value.

The heaviest depreciation has been in five railroad stocks, one public service company and one industrial corporation in which Campbell had a large part of his fortune invested.

These seven stocks are now $10,000,- 000 below the par value at which they were listed in the inventory. If this amount is deducted from the inventory valuation of the entire personal estate it reduces the total to $6,896,805.40.

In addition to the personal property
the inventory lists real estate in St.
Louis and elsewhere, the value of which is not officially stated, but which is estimated by experts to be worth about $3,500,000. This would bring the approximate value of the Campbell estate up to a little more than $10,000,000.

At the time of Campbell's death some newspaper estimates fixed the probable value of his estate as high as $50,000,000.
The stocks most heavily held by Campbell and showing the greatest depreciation below their par value of $100 a share, are Frisco, common; Frisco, first preferred; Frisco, second preferred;
Rock Island, preferred; Missouri, Kansas & Texas, common; the North American Co. and the Utah Securities Co.

Rock Island, preferred, is now quoted at $1.75 a share, and Campbell's holding of $750 shares, with a par value of $75,000, are now worth $13,125 in the market.

Heavy Holder in Frisco.
The inventory lists Campbell's holding of 23,225 shares of Frisco, common, as worth $2,322,500 at par. The present market price of this stock is $1.15 a share, and the holding on that basis is worth $26,808.75.

Other depreciations, as based on the par value of the stocks are: Missouri,
Kansas & Texas, common, $275,000; Utah
Securities Corporation, $1,514,500; and North American Co., $1,514,500.

Despite Campbell's reputed shrewdness and the fact that his advice was eagerly sought by investors, the inventory shows that in recent years he invested heavily in the stocks which in the last few years have shown the greatest losses.

Bought at High Price.
The prices at which Campbell and his associates bought these stocks is not shown in the inventory which lists all of the securities at their par value. It is known, though, that in the cases at least of the Frisco and the Rock Island, Campbell got into the market when the prices were comparatively high and that he bought large blocks of these stocks between $70 and par.

It was said by brokers Tuesday that if Campbell had realized on his holdings at the good tide of railroad prosperity about the time of the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904, he easily could have established his title as the richest man west of the Mississippi River.

Campbell had $18,000 in cash when he died.

The inventory lists $9,822.50 in notes and $284,500 in accounts owed to Campbell at his death. Morton Jourdan was the heaviest debtor to Campbell on notes. He is listed as owing $38,700 on one note and $40,000 on another. In each case the security for the note is 500 shares of North American Co. stock.

There also is listed an account against Former Judge Henry S. Priest for $75,000 secured by 1000 shares of North American stock. There also is an account against Mrs. J. C. Van Blarcom for $275.

List of Realty Holdings.
The following real estate holdings are listed in the inventory:
The site occupied by the Grand Leader at Seventh street and Washington avenue.
A lot at Sixth street and Lucas avenue.
A lot at Sixth and Locust streets.
The home at 3 Westmoreland place.
A lot on Lindell drive in the Catlin tract.
A lot on Second street in North St.
Louis.
Several lots near Cardinal and Grand avenues.
Several lots in the Claremont addition of East St. Louis.
Summer home at Greenwich, Conn.
Twenty lots in Brewster County, Tex.
Several tracts in St. Louis County.
Several lots in Joplin, Mo.
Several lots in Jasper County, near Joplin.

GRAND JURY HAS BOY FOR THE GRAND JURY to go to the St. Louis County Jail to be kept in custody. The boy, a son of Louis and Mary Campbell, was born in St. Louis in 1904. He is now 10 years old.

Judge Holtkamp's Former Wife Dead.
Mrs. Nellie F. Barker, former wife of Probate Judge Charles W. Holtkamp, from whom she was divorced, died yesterday after an illness of three weeks at her home, 5711 Barker avenue. She was the daughter of Eugene R. Francisco, traveling auditor of the Webash Railroad. The funeral will be at 9:30 a.
m. Wednesday, from the residence in St. Louis.

SEDALIA, LAWYER DEAD

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 4.—Peter Har-Sangre, who is the oldest member in point of practice here, died today, aged 80 years. He read law at Huntington, Pa., and was admitted to the bar in 1887. He came to Sedalia two years later, and had served as City Attorney, City Counselor, Chairman of Pettis

County Republican Committee, and several terms as Chairman of the Seventh District Congressional Committee.

For 20 years Sangre was the law partner of Judge Henry Lamm, now Chief Justice of Missouri Supreme Court. He never married.

P. A. jams joy in jimmy pipes

YOU never smoked tobacco in your life that hits your taste and punches in satisfaction like Prince Albert. It's the high spot any old way you hook it up, via a jimmy pipe or rolled into a makin's cigarette!

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

Men everywhere smoke P. A. in a pipe and rolled into cigarettes. Wise up that it is the goods—signed, sealed, delivered! Or you can lay a bet it wouldn't hit the fancy of such a bunch of red-blooded men.

Sooner you lay a dime against a tidy red tin of P. A. sooner you'll get yours! It's simply a question of time when you'll sit on the P. A. band wagon and sound the cymbals!

Get it off your mind and let some P. A. sunshine into your system!

Prince Albert is sold all along the line. Beat it around the corner and get yours. Because it's a bad noise to tease your smokappetite so. Tippy red bags, 5c (handy for rolling 'em); tidy red tins, 10c; also handsome pound and half-pound humidor.

Andreas Höfer—The Inn-keeper Patriot of Switzerland

TO THIS peasant-leader Liberty was as much the breath of life as it is to the strong-winged eagles of the Alps. To achieve it for himself and his mountain brothers he gladly laid down his life. No less a personality than Napoleon vanquished him, and it was because he feared him that the Great Emperor ordered Höfer shot. Every atom of Andreas Höfer loved Liberty. He demanded it for himself and willingly gave it to others. In this respect he is no different than are our millions of Swiss citizens. Personal and National Liberty to those of Swiss blood is a religion. To a man they will fight for it, and to a man they will die for it. When asked to vote for Prohibition they do as would do the great patriot Höfer—VOTE AGAINST
IT. Thou shalt NOT eat this—thou shalt NOT drink that—is insolent legislation to those of Swiss blood.

Anheuser-Busch are proud to serve their thousands of Swiss patrons. For 57 years the Swiss people have been moderate users of their honestly-brewed beers. BUDWEISER is a favorite wherever these folk are found. Seven thousand, five hundred people are daily required to meet the constantly increasing demand for BUDWEISER.
Its sales exceed those of any other beer by millions of bottles. ANHEUSER-BUSCH, ST. LOUIS, U.S.A.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Amendments to the Aldrich-Vreeland currency law extending issues of currency to 125 per cent of capital and surplus of banks and trust companies in the Federal reserve system, were finally adopted in the House today, the Senate promptly agreed to them and they went to the White House for President Wilson's signature.

More than $1,000,000,000 will be available for additional circulation during the European war crisis by the provisions of the amendment. The law, all national banks and all State and trust company members of the Federal Reserve system, may issue notes up to 125 per cent of their combined capital and surplus.

Under the bill as originally passed by the Senate, the banks might have issued up to the former limit of $500,000,000, but the House removed all restrictions as to amount. The Senate, however, afterwards amended the proposal to limit the issue to combined capital and surplus, and the extra 25 per cent was added in conference as a compromise.

Wade Suggests Change.
Approximately $1,700,000 of such capital and surplus is available upon which issue of notes may be based.

Senator J. Wade, president of the St. Louis Clearing House Association, also head of the Mercantile National Bank, is responsible for the admission of state banks and trust companies to the operation of the law.

Wade arrived here yesterday in response to the invitation of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to confer on methods to prevent financial stringency as a result of the European war.

Finding that McAdoo was in New York and would not return until afternoon, Wade went to the capitol to hear the House debate on the emergency amendment. He had not heard what form the legislation would take and asked to see it.

"Why, this is excellent," he said, "but you do not go far enough. Why are not the state banks and trust companies that will become members of the Federal Reserve Association assured the same protection as the national banks?"

Representative Glass, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, and Senator Owen, chairman of a similar committee in the Senate, quickly agreed this should be done.

After watching the House proceedings, Wade went to the Treasury Department where he had a brief audience with Secretary McAdoo.

Wade departed for St. Louis last night. He denied a local report that he had been tendered a place on the Federal Reserve Board.

CATCHES BURGLAR, TURNS HIM OVER TO HIS PALS

Boarder Captures Man and Bogus Detectives Take Charge of Him.

A burglar, rumormongering the home of John Humphrey, 207 Cushing street, was captured by Charles Jensen, a boarder, about 2:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Matthew Humphrey, 12 years old, was sent to get a policeman.

As the boy ran down the street shouting "police" he was stopped by two men at the corner who said they were detectives and asked what they could do.

"They accompanied the boy to his home and took charge of the burglar. The latter had a bundle of loot consisting of clothing under his arm which he tossed aside and willingly accompanied the "detectives" from the house. Jensen was requested to call at the Seward street station, and identify the burglar in the presence of the desk sergeant.

When Jensen reached the station he was informed no burglar had been arrested by any real detectives. The desk sergeant communicated with headquarters and learned Jensen's burglar had not been taken to any station. The real police then got busy and began a search for the burglar and the two bogus detectives who are believed to have been his "lookouts."

Police Make Four Vain Calls for Doctor at Dispensary.

The police report that when the stork was hovering over the home of Mrs. Wrenna Vaughan, 25 years old, of 1424 Washington avenue, about 1 a. m. Tuesday, they were unable to get the service of an ambulance surgeon. They telephoned the central dispensary four times for an ambulance and doctor, but each time were told "no stork" and "the woman up" and sent her to the city hospital.

A physician at the Regent Hotel was finally summoned, but before he arrived child had been born. The mother was said to be progressing favorably.

PRIMARY VOTE 35,000 AT 2 P. M., BOARD'S ESTIMATE

Election Commissioners Look for a Light Ballot in Today's Nomination Fight.

20,000 IN BY 9 A. M.

Early Voting Heavier in North, South Side and River Wards Than in West End.

Election Commissioners estimated at 2 p. m. today that between 35,000 and 40,000 ballots had been cast in the primary election.

The early morning voting was light in some of the West End districts, but heavier in the North and South St. Louis and river wards. The indications were, according to the Election Board, that a light primary vote would be registered. It was estimated by the Commissioners that 20,000 had voted by 9 a. m.

There was no serious trouble, but some minor complaints were made to the commissioners from judges and clerks of election.

Tried to Vote Sample Ballots.

In the ninth precinct of the Seventh Ward, at 1107 Chouteau avenue, 40 Syrians appeared with sample ballots and tried to put them into the ballot box. They were instructed that they must mark their own ballots.

About 15 judges failed to appear for duty at the time the polls opened. Their places were filled by the other judges and clerks.

Sample Ballots in Booths.

William H. Shea, a judge in the Ninth Precinct of the Twenty-sixth Ward, objected to voters taking sample ballots into the booths to be used as a guide in marking their own ballots. He threatened to resign if the other judges permitted it.

The Election Commissioners sent word to him that voters might take sample ballots into the booth and use them as they saw fit, but that they must not show them to other voters or leave them within the polls. Shea was warned that he must not resign.

The board also ruled, in response to a complaint from the Eighth Precinct of

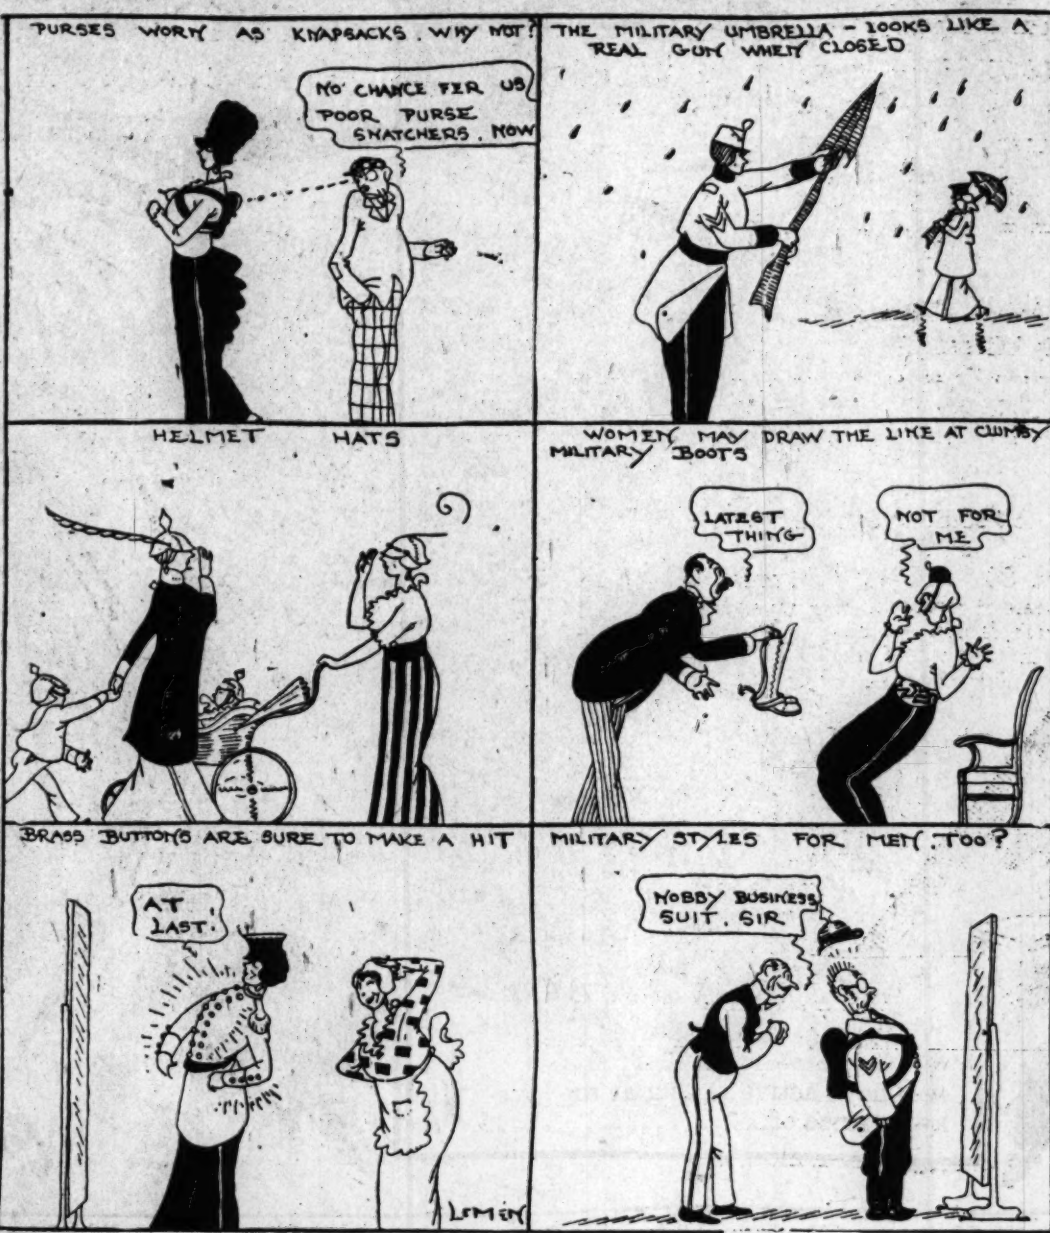

Check the Symptoms of Lung Trouble

Symptoms of severe lung trouble, such as fever, night sweats and loss of weight, etc., should be checked or serious results will follow. Eckman's Alternative has brought about many recoveries.

Read this: "I am, thirty-six years old, a very young woman, I was a sufferer from Bronchitis. I tried doctor after doctor, getting little or no benefit. Finally I had night sweats, weak ankles and lost weight and my doctor told me if I did not get better soon I would have Consumption. Miss Mary Korman, who is a friend of mine, recommended after taking your Alternative, and indeed I try it I am now, after two years, perfectly well, strong and healthy." (Abbreviated) (Abbreviated) MRS. ROSA VOELKEL. Eckman's Alternative is most efficacious in bronchitis, catarrh and severe throat and lung affections and upbuilding the system. Contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. Write Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet of recoveries.

NEW WAR STYLES.

The Fourth Ward that a challenger must live in the precinct in which he was serving. The complaint was that one of the challengers sent to the polling place at 1115 Cass avenue did not live in the precinct.

From two South St. Louis precincts—one at 1500 South seventh street and another at 923 Park avenue—reports were received that beer was being given away in the alleys in the rear. An official of the Election Commissioners' office was sent to both places to stop the free distribution of beer.

The polls were opened in each of the 474 precincts at 6 a. m. They will close at 7 p. m. Voters will have 13 hours in which to cast their ballots.

Committees representing the Democratic and Republican parties were out early with their organizations trying to get out a full vote. There are many bitter fights, especially among the Republicans. Owing to the interest aroused by these contests it was expected that a larger Republican vote would be cast than Democratic.

In the South St. Louis wards Republican City Chairman John Schmolz received his plate in the sample ballots which he caused to be distributed. The Schmolz men are supporting former Postmaster Thomas J. Akina for United States Senator, against Polite Elvins.

Schmolz for Siderer. The names of four candidates for Circuit Judge were left on the Schmolz slate. They were J. Hugo Grimm, George C. Hildecock, Eugene McQuillin and George H. Shields. But three candidates are to be nominated.

Until a few days ago Judge Charles W. Holtcamp was on the Schmolz slate for re-nomination. In the sample ballots distributed in the South Side wards, there was no indication of a choice as between Judge Holtcamp and his opponent, Victor H. Falkenhainer.

The Schmolz faction is supporting Joseph B. Thomas for Circuit Clerk against Charles R. Graves, and Howard Siderer against Arthur H. Bader for Prosecuting Attorney.

Charles F. Joy for Recorder of Deeds is being supported by the Schmolz faction; Edward G. Marsh for License Collector, Austin W. Biggs for Clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes, and Ferdinand I. G. Knittel for Clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction.

The Democratic committeemen were not able to agree upon any slate of candidates. The Schmolz slate is being vigorously opposed by 16 of the 28 members of the Republican committee.

Supragists Hand Out Literature at Polling Places.

The supragists did a little electioneering for themselves at the primaries Tuesday, although they had no ticket in the field. At many voting precincts, women watchers handed "votes for women" pamphlets to the voters. The watchers rarely attempted to voice their propaganda, contenting themselves with handing out printed matter.

At most places the watchers gave bundles of hand bills. A green one explained why women workers wished to vote. A yellow one purported to give the woman's reason for wanting the ballot. A blue one declared that women are citizens and wish to do their civic duty. A pink one asks who gave men the right to vote any way, and a red one contains the deadly parallel of arguments for and against suffrage.

Senator Stone Urges Great Care in Scratching Ballots. United States Senator William J. Stone has sent from Washington to his friends in Missouri a warning to voters to be careful in scratching their primary tickets. He requested that publicity be given to his letter, which reads:

"There is one thing I wish to impress on the voters of Missouri, just before primary, and that is, that there are three names on the Democratic ticket for United States Senator, and the voters should scratch two of these names, leaving only one of the candidate he wishes to vote for. 'If he leaves more than one name on his ticket for United States Senator his vote, so far as that office is concerned, will not be counted. Many votes are lost at every primary election through neglect on the part of the voter to properly scratch his primary ticket as required by law.'"

Policeman Held Candidate Tried to Sit on Election Judge. A policeman stationed at the polling place at 326 Berlin avenue telephoned to the Page Boulevard Station Tuesday morning that Brockbridge Long, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator, had attempted to sit as a judge of election, but had been unseated.

A hurried investigation revealed that the policeman was mistaken, and that

FREDERIC DELANO IS APPOINTED ON RESERVE BOARD

President Sends Nomination to Senate and It Is Referred to Committee.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Frederic A. Delano of Chicago, president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway (Monon Line), has accepted a place on the Federal Reserve Board.

The nomination was sent to the Senate by the President this afternoon and was referred to the Banking Committee.

The nomination is for the place for which the name of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago was withdrawn after opposition to his confirmation developed in the Senate.

A favorable report on Paul M. Warburg's nomination is expected with Delano's, and the two appointments are expected to be confirmed at the same time, that organization of the reserve system may be completed at once to stabilize the financial situation.

Delano is a financier and railroad manager. After being graduated from Harvard he entered the Burlington Railway shops as a mechanic and rose to be general manager of the Wash. and later of the Monon System. He served for some time as a consulting engineer for the War Department in Philippine railway construction.

President Taft nominated Delano for a place on the Industrial Relations Commission, and while confirmation was held up by his appointment lapsed, but President Wilson renominated him and he was confirmed.

Delano Says He Will Not Undergo Personal Examination.

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—"If the Senate should confirm my appointment without quibbling, I would accept the place as a matter of duty," said Frederic A. Delano, president of the Monon Railroad, today, concerning his nomination for a place on the Federal Reserve Board.

"I have had no direct offer from President Wilson, and the first I knew of the affair was yesterday afternoon, when a man told me that I had been under consideration for the last 10 days. I do not want the place, and I certainly should not take it if my record were not sufficiently open to warrant my certification without a personal examination."

K. of C. Convention Opened. ST. PAUL, Aug. 4.—With delegates present from every part of the United States and several other countries the annual convention of the Knights of Columbus opened here today and will continue until Thursday night.

HOGS DROP 50C IN A SECOND; WAR SCARE BREAK

Prices Off Half a Dollar From Monday's Low — Cattle Decline 15 Cents.

The European war caused a heavy break in the St. Louis hog market Tuesday. Prices fell off 50 to 60 cents a hundred pounds from the prices of Monday, which were a drop of 15 cents from the prices that had been prevailing.

Cattle prices fell 15 cents at the National Stockyards Monday, which was less than the drop at Kansas City and Chicago, and it was holding steady Tuesday at the Monday decline. President Wilson's assurance of Government aid to the banks was looked upon as the steadying influence. The fall in cattle prices at Kansas City Monday was 25 to 35 cents and in Chicago it was 15 to 25 cents.

The slump in hog prices is attributed by H. L. Wyatt, traffic manager of the National Stockyards, to the interruption to the export branch of the business by the war. A large amount of the hog products are shipped abroad.

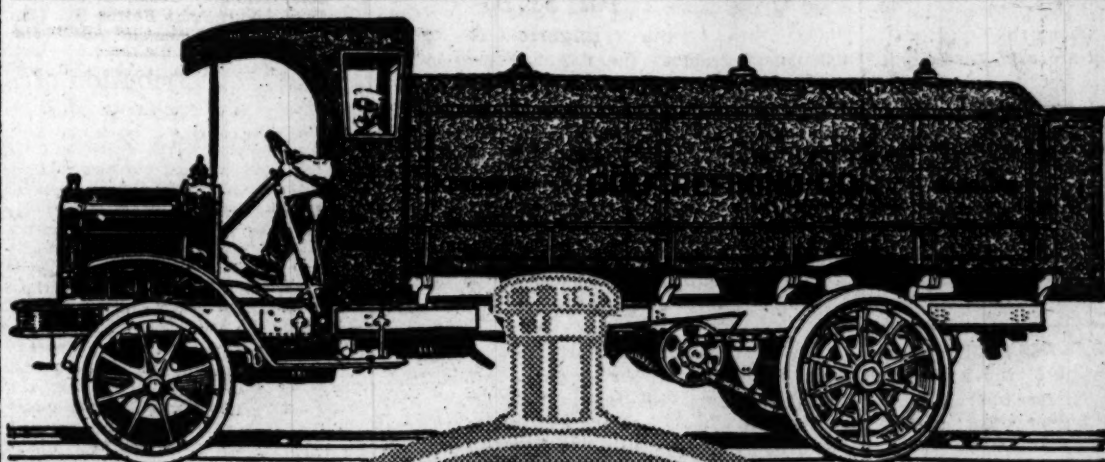

3400 Letters in Blocked Tube. A blockade in the mail tube connecting the old postoffice with Union Station caused 3400 outgoing letters to be delayed about six hours Tuesday.

One of the box carriers became stuck in the tube on a curve near Union Station and before it was known at the postoffice that anything was wrong 16 other carriers, each containing 200 letters, were blocked on the curve. As soon as the trouble was located men were put to work digging up the tube to relieve the congestion.

Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Common Sense Advice by a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of Blaud's Magnesia, a simple stomachic, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents its formation, and which ordinarily causes distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little Blaud's Magnesia, which can be obtained from Johnson, Roe, Drug Co., 401-403 St. Louis, Mo. Blaud's Magnesia, and should always be kept handy.—ADV.

REPEAT ORDERS from FIRMS WHO KNOW MOTOR TRUCKS

THE great oil companies of America were one of the first big lines of business to use motor trucks extensively. Naturally, then, these companies are probably more familiar with the good and bad points of the various motor trucks than any other important line of business. The great oil companies know motor trucks by long experience.

Q. In June, 1913, the great oil companies operated a total of 150 White Trucks.

Q. In June, 1914, these same oil companies had increased their White Truck equipment to more than 270, an increase of over one hundred and twenty White Trucks during the past twelve months.

For the Thin and Bloodless!

The thin and bloodless, with pale cheeks, white lips and frail angular physique, of this community have been much interested in the reports of physicians and others concerning the effectiveness of the treatment for increasing the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus adding color and weight with its accompanying vigor to the depleted system. A gain of from ten to thirty pounds is not at all unusual where the treatment is regularly used for several months, while the color improves almost from the beginning. Most good apothecaries supply it in the form of three-grain hypodermic tablets, put up in sealed packets, with directions for home use. Its action aids assimilation and absorption of the food eaten very promptly.—ADVERTISE

No Trouble to Remove Superfluous Hairs

(Toilet Tip) It is an easy matter to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz, if you proceed as follows: Mix a paste with some water and a little powdered talcum, apply to hairy surface and in 1 or 2 minutes the hair will be gone. This method of hair removal is certain to give real satisfaction, as it does not hurt the skin, but to avoid disfigurement be certain to get real talcum.—ADV.

Blood Risings Not Sign of Health

Boils are Caused by Sluggish and Impure Blood

Look Out for Volcano Effects

When there are swellings, gatherings or risings of the skin it is a sure sign that the blood needs help. It needs the cleansing that can be had only by the famous blood purifier, S. S. S. Any eruption of the skin shows the body is retaining impurities, and either continues to circulate and impoverish the blood, or are deposited here and there in the form of abscesses or surface risings and eruptions.

A host of people use S. S. S. every spring and summer to withstand the heat of the sun and the system (the skin) Get a bottle of S. S. S. today at any drugstore. Give your blood a good bath. It will cause your liver to be cleansed, purify your lungs to burn them, your kidneys to excrete them and your skin to carry them off the body. The result is a new system fresh and clean to revive and again be conscious of renewed health. SOLD BY ALL DEALERS

The Double "O"

A Patch of Sunshine Wins $700 for Bud Hawkins, the Sleepy Dealer Believing It to Be the Last of Bud's Hard-Earned $20 Pieces.

By Robert W. Fisher.

"WHOOPEE!" came a voice from the back of the smoke-filled room. "Whoopee! I've done it!"

Bud Hawkins looked up to see a tall individual dancing around the roulette table, while the dealer calmly counted out some $20 gold pieces. Activities at the craps, stud and draw poker tables also ceased because of the noise made by the man.

"I got the double 'O.' Everybody come and drink with me," and the lucky man hurried to the bar and threw down one of the shining gold pieces. The crowd rushed forward, and Bud was pressed up against the stranger and the bar.

"This is a lucky day for Lon Jones," said the man as he turned to Bud. "And I guess you're my mascot," he chuckled, as he slapped Bud on the shoulder. "You see, I won just as you came in."

"I'm glad I gave somebody luck," said Bud, as he reached for his glass, which the fat bartender had just filled. "Here's boy."

"You ought to try your luck," said Lon Jones, as they stayed at the bar, the others having returned to the games. Have another drink.

"That game's easy. I won seven hundred."

Bud took it.

"I ain't lucky," he said. "I dropped my roll last year when I was ready to go back home and buy a farm. I had to hard shed another whole year, and you bet I'm not going to lose my money now after working so hard."

"Luck will change, you know," put in the chubby-faced bartender, who had been listening.

"Sure it will," Lon corroborated him. "Come back with me; I'm going to try again and I want you to give me luck."

The dealer nodded at Bud's companion when he returned, glanced casually at Bud, taking only an instant. Bud knew, to see his spare, well-knit frame, his worn clothes, his youthful sunburned face covered with a fuzzy growth of hair, his clear blue eyes and his battered hat. Then the dealer spun the wheel, and the youth flushed as he thought how boyish he had appeared.

Bud Watched, Fascinated.

Bud watched, fascinated, as Lon Jones laid his bets. Lon was lucky for he won another whole year. Bud's blood began to flow faster. "I'm going to try that double 'O' again," Bud thought. The youth held his breath as the dealer spun the wheel. The little ball danced and whirled around the wheel, then stopped, and the ball dropped into the magic pocket.

"Tow!" yelled the delighted Lon. "Tow! I did it again."

He caught Bud in his arms and hugged him. Bud's heart was pounding away as he thought of the easy money his companion was getting. Fourteen hundred dollars in a day, three times as much as he made in a year. It didn't seem fair, he thought, and he wondered if his luck had changed again.

Lon gathered up his earnings, $700, for he had been playing $20 gold pieces.

"You're all right," he said to Bud. "You come with me, I'll show you a good time."

Bud looked over at the table. His face was flushed, his breath was coming faster. Why not, he thought, why not? My luck has changed, I can go home with a big pile. He turned to Lon Jones.

"I want to try it," he said. "Just once, to see if I am lucky."

"Never can tell till you try," laughed Lon as he jingled his winnings. "Go to it."

The dealer turned an impassive face toward Bud and waited.

"Don't try the double 'O' now, work up to it," advised Lon. "Play the black or red, or even or odd."

Bud played black—and won.

That settled it, he was lucky.

He looked at the dealer. That person was equally impassive, winning or losing. It isn't his money he is playing with, reflected Bud. As for Bud, his eyes glistened, his hands shook, and he talked nervously.

"Come on for a walk," urged Lon. "You're a sight more nervous to play a man's game now."

"I've struck a winning streak," Bud returned, as he won on an even number.

Lon Drags Bud Away.

"HAT had game will wait," insisted Lon. "You come along," and he dragged Bud away.

"Don't go away mad," called the bartender after them. "Better have another."

The two accepted his offer then left. Pendleton in the early days contained no amusement places except saloons and gambling houses, and there was but one train a day out of the place, so Lon and Bud found little to do. They drifted into a Chinese restaurant for supper. Lon eating heartily, while Bud, in whose veins now flowed blood feverish with the gambling mania, ate little. He wanted to get back to the game.

"Eat hearty," urged Lon. "We'll be able to tie a kink in the tiger's tail better if we eat."

Bud shook his head. "I don't feel hungry," he stated.

When they returned to the saloon the evening crowd was pouring in. The two had a good-night drink with the bartender, who was leaving, then stepped back to the gambling tables.

They were filled with men who were winning or losing, calmly or excitedly, according to their dispositions. Bud and Lon had to wait for some time before either could get a seat. Finally Lon took a vacant chair and started playing. He won the first time, then lost 10 times in succession, playing $20 gold pieces each time.

"I'm hoodooed," he growled. "I'm going to try some other game. You play," and he gave Bud his chair.

Bud had hardly taken his seat when Bud Starts on His Savings.

Till ball kept away from the pocket. Then Bud changed back to his old system and kept even for awhile. Occasionally he stayed out and looked over at Lon, who having been unlucky at shooting craps, had tackled a poker game. From the profanity at that table, Bud judged his friend was also unlucky at that game.

Three o'clock came, and most of the players had gone. Lon and his partners in the poker game stayed and Bud, a half-faced miner from Florence, and a local merchant, a dried-up snarling person, remained at the roulette wheel. Lon was losing his winnings and Bud began to dig into his pocket for the money he had saved to buy that Eastern farm.

Prudence urged him to quit while he had the money, but the lust for gold had him in its grip and urged him on and on.

Finally with an oath Lon rose and called out, "I'm broke. Ain't that hell?" The other poker players grinned and quit. The local man at the roulette wheel left and Lou dropped into his place.

"Four o'clock," he said. "Ain't you going to quit?"

"I've got to win," said Bud feverishly, as he plunged again and lost. "I've got to win. I want to take that train for home at 6:30 this morning."

He lost again.

The big miner left in a short time and the dealer stifled a yawn as he turned to his task of trimming Bud. The saloon was deserted now and the night bartender was snoring behind the bar.

Six o'clock came, and Lon had dropped to sleep. Bud was wide awake and nearly broke. The dealer was mechanically turning the wheel. Bud played a twenty on the 15. The wheel spun, then slowly the ball fell into the 13 pocket. Bud's heart sank but he cheered up when the ball jumped into the 15 pocket and stayed there. The dealer paid him five to one for that. Bud left the $100 standing on the double "O" and lost.

Bud glanced over at Lon from whose pocket a big revolver protruded. Then he forced himself to look away. Anything but that, he thought. "My God, will I have to stay here another year?" he asked himself, and the only answer that came into his mind was "yes."

Bud Searches His Pockets.

HE felt in his pocket. He found three twenties. He played one on red—and lost. He put one on an even number—and lost again. Twenty dollars left! He looked around. The sun had risen and was shining through cracks in the wall. One sunbeam struck him on the neck. It was a few minutes of train time. Bud looked at the bartender. He was asleep. Lon was snoring gently and the dealer could hardly keep his eyes open. He glanced at the pile of gold in front of the dealer and again at the revolver.

"I'll take one more chance," he thought, and played the remaining twenty on the double "O." The dealer sleepily turned the wheel. The little ball rolled—and forever it seemed to Bud, then stopped in the double "O" hole—and jumped out.

"Broke—my God!" thought Bud, as the dealer took the money.

He felt in his pockets again as a forlorn hope and found—nothing.

He laid his hand on the table and bowed his head, a desperate resolve in his mind.

The dealer looked up and spun the wheel. The ball dropped in the double "O" hole. The dealer, sufficiently awake to see the table dimly, said, "All right, stranger, you win," and paid over $700 in gold.

Bud looked at the money, then at the dealer, unable to comprehend. Then he glanced at the table where he had placed his bets, saw what had caused the dealer to pay him, grabbed the money and ran for the depot, which the train was just leaving.

The sound of the train woke Lon and he poked the dealer in the side.

"The kid's gone," said Lon.

"He left twenty there," said the dealer as he reached for it. Then his eyes opened wider and he saw that the "twenty" was a round bit of sunshine, cast from a knothole in the wall, and which had struck the table when Bud leaped forward out of the way.

The dealer and Lon rushed to the door, wakening the bartender as they passed.

They looked out to see the train picking up speed, and on the back step a well-built young man waving a battered hat.

Bud was on his way home.

The Suffrage Movement and Womanly Beauty

The newspapers happily have proven to the suffragists that the women of the United States are up to the minute, both as to clothes and as to beauty. They have learned to take care of themselves and their bodies. Then, too, we have found an interesting thing about the suffragists. They have discovered face powder. The reason is because powder does not offer a plain, unadorned face to the public. A plain face is not only safe, but it is also a source of great strength. To prepare this lotion at home, dissolve in one quart of water, one ounce of glycerine, one pint of hot water (or witch hazel), and apply to the skin between washings. It will give a velvety softness and clarity to a rough, faded skin, relieving a host of skin ailments, and will insure a lovely, clear complexion.

Poor, Dear Jack Sweltering While Wife's Away

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch by Marguerite Martyn.

"How perfectly miserable he must be in that lonely, empty house—and all by himself!"

THIS picture, drawn as a reproof to those cruel wives who desert their husbands for the brief attraction of a summer resort, represents one of Jack's loneliest evenings. He has sought refuge from utter desolation at his country club. Other exposures of Jack's sufferings as observed by an other stay-at-home will be printed for the instruction of the gay summer widow, if her conscience is not sufficiently hurt by this one.

Sandman Story of Elizabeth

She Is a Poor Little Girl Who Becoming Acquainted With a Rich Little Girl, They Grow to Be Fast Friends.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ELIZABETH watched the building of the new house near her home with great interest.

"I guess the folks that are to live in the new house are very rich, mother," she said one day after she had watched the furniture being carried into the home of the new neighbors.

One day after the newcomers had been there some weeks Elizabeth saw a pony and cart go into the yard of the big house, but still she saw no little girl.

"I wish they had not put such a lot of thick bushes around the yard," said Elizabeth.

Her mother laughed. "They do not want to be looked at, and you must not try to see through the bushes, as I saw you the other day."

"I wanted to see if there was a little girl there," replied Elizabeth.

"Well, if there is it will not matter to you," said her mother. "They are rich and we are poor."

At last Elizabeth was rewarded by seeing the pony and cart come through the gate and in the cart driving was a little girl about Elizabeth's age. Another day she saw her with a big doll in her arms and the coachman was driving.

And one day when Elizabeth was walking to the village with her mother she saw the little girl in a carriage drawn by two big horses with her mother, and the little girl had on a beautiful hat, with pink ribbons and lace on it.

"O, dear, I wish I could ride all the time as that little girl does," said Elizabeth.

"Never mind," said her mother. "You should be glad that you can walk, and besides that you look healthier than she does."

One day Elizabeth had been gathering berries and came home across the fields, and to get to the road she had to pass close to the high bushes which grew around the new house.

Elizabeth forgot all about what her mother had said about not looking through the bushes and when she heard a little girl's voice she peeped. Yes, there was the little girl in a pretty dress playing with her doll and there was a table beside her and several books on it, and close beside her a woman all in white and wearing a white cap.

She was telling the little girl a story and Elizabeth became so interested in it she quite forgot where she was and laughed out, and the woman and the little girl looked around and saw her.

Elizabeth's face was flushed with her long walk, and her hair was tousled and hung in ringlets around her face, and when the little girl saw her she smiled and said, "You are the little girl that lives across the street, aren't you?"

Elizabeth tried to draw back her head, but one of her curls caught in the bush and the woman in white came to help her.

"I want her to come in," said the little girl.

So the woman in white helped Elizabeth through the bushes.

"My name is Charlotte," said the new neighbor, "what is yours?"

ELIZABETH told her and offered her some of the berries she had

Soft, Fluffy Hair Aids Beauty and Personality

Girls and women of all ages want to be charming, beautiful and attractive—it's their birthright—but stryng, thin and lifeless hair destroys half the beauty of a pretty face.

If your hair is not beautiful, is falling out, streaky, full of dandruff, too dry, or if the scalp itches and burns, use Parisian Sage. Rub it well into the scalp. It will right up the hair roots, nourish them, and stimulate the hair to grow strong and luxuriant. Parisian Sage removes dandruff with one application and cleanses the hair of dirt, dust and excessive oil. It will cool and invigorate the scalp and make the hair doubly beautiful.

Parisian Sage is a scientifically made preparation that gives the hair just what is needed to make it soft, fluffy, thick and gloriously radiant. It is delicately perfumed; is inexpensive, and can be had at all drug and toilet counters or from Wolff-Wilson Drug Co.—ADV.

RENEWAL

DEANE'S appointment with Maddox was put until 8 o'clock, so, to kill time, he bought a ticket to the matinee. He arrived early, and sat yawning, excessively bored, while the auditorium gradually filled up with Saturday afternoon crowd. The back of a woman's head two or three rows in front of him suddenly caught his eye. His first thought was, as it often is when we see a familiar face or figure.

"That looks like Kitty"—Kitty being Mrs. Deane.

Then came realization, and he leaned forward. It was Kitty. But who was that with her?

Deane had been married 15 years. It is doubtful whether in all that time he had once felt the least misgiving in the sense of possession. He had seen his wife with other men, had known her to be popular, had brought his friends to the house and been gratified that they had found her attractive. Of course, she was; would she be his wife if she were not an attractive woman? He was proud of her as he was proud of his own physical strength, his own business ability. Not an active pride; more a kind of inexpressive complacency.

THE feeling, therefore, with which he beheld her talking with a strange man was so long forgotten that it was practically new. The man was good looking, well dressed, at ease; as Deane saw his profile, it showed virility and humor; his smile was full of charm, and his voice when once he threw back his head and laughed was that of a cultivated man.

All this was only an impression, secondary to his impression of Kitty herself. For the first time in years he noted in her the shining and luxuriant hair, the fairness of her skin, the graceful poise of her head and shoulders, the straightness of her slender back.

The lights went down suddenly and the curtain rose on the play; but Deane paid no attention to the stage. He could still see the nape of her neck gleaming.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay-there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. It is a question of hair, you look ripe, fat and young, your friends say and think. The scales and tape measure easily confirm their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple Sargol plan.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but it makes your food do it. It kills the fat-spoiling bacteria that keep the body from absorbing the fat in the food. ing between the dark gown and her hair, and a muscle in his lean jaw worked suddenly as he saw her lean over and whisper something to her companion.

NOW Deane knew perfectly well that Kitty was the soul of fidelity to him. He did not at a moment doubt her; he knew that if he should go down and speak to her she would introduce her companion with complete composure. No matter who the man was; he did not care for that. What gave him that gnawing feeling of uneasiness was the awakened consciousness that his wife was a lovely and desirable woman; that all things lovely and desirable are fleeting. He wanted to take her in his arms that minute; and yet he felt with a pang the futility of holding that which is lovely and desirable in one's arms if its time has come to take wing. He might crush it to suffocation; yet life might slip out of the body, or love out of the soul.

AND it wanted the sight of his wife suddenly in a strange place, happy without him, to transport him back almost a score of years. He remembered his mental state the night before she had promised to marry him—how he had tried to imagine life without her, knowing that it might have to be borne.

Maddox invited him to dinner that night after their meeting, but Deane, his business transacted, lost no time in getting home. When his wife heard him come in she went to meet him. In her face he saw the great eagerness she always showed where there was some pleasant little incident to tell.

"Oh, who do you suppose was at the theater with me today?" she began at sight of him.

But she got no further; for he had swept her into his arms, and was kissing her lips with the impetuosity of 15 years ago.

Showing the public some of the 6000 reports received from bankers all over the country as to the need of money to move the stupendous crops was good policy on the part of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo.

Nothing convinces like consensus of testimony. From Maine to Florida, from California to North Carolina, men in close touch with the activities of the country send assurances of more than an unprecedented crop outlook.

New Jersey predicts that the manufacturers will soon be asking for money to extend their business. St. Louis prophesies an industrial revival and says that within 60 days the mercantile houses will demand credit to widen their operations.

Why not ask for more such reports and turn over more such telegrams? What publicity work is better suited to the Government than publishing propriety?

Publish Prosperity.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL

By HELEN ROWLAND

MOST men seem to fancy that feminism is merely a passing fad, which has taken the place of raffia work, bridge whist, neurasthenia and "The Duchess," and will soon be forgotten for "something just as good."

An old maid, a spinster and a bachelor girl differ simply in that the first regrets, the second doesn't care, and the third still hopes.

When a man doesn't know how to take a woman's moods and whims he shouldn't agree to take them for life.

Now that the beauty specialists have discovered a "permanent curl" and an "indelible rouge" it remains only for the summer girl to discover some way to get a little permanent masculine attention and a little indelible love.

One girl's loss is another girl's "flame."

Why will a woman who is going away for the summer put her jewels and silver in the safety vault, her furs in cold storage and her dog in a boarding kennel, yet leave her husband around loose?

When a man is past the possibility of making a fool of himself, he is past the possibility of falling in love.

No doubt, even Solomon told each of his 700 wives that he had merely THOUGHT he loved the others, but that she was the only girl he "ever really cared for in just that way."

"The poor we have always with us," but the saddest sort of poverty is that of an old flirt trying to lie to his years.

The clever Delilah and the brilliant Cleopatra may have made fools of men; but it took a little empty-headed blonde, like Helen of Troy, to make a lot of men make fools of themselves.

"Acquiring experience" consists merely in rooting from the heart all the golden illusions of youth and replanting it with "something-just-as-good."

A flatterer is either a fool—or thinks you one.

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER.

"The Man Who Knew."

A BIG commercial house found itself suddenly in need of a man to head a new department created, in effect, as a "bureau of information." It must have on ready tap the vital statistics of every department in the concern.

One day, about five minutes after closing time, the "Big Boss," who had been out of town, hurried into the office. It was important that he consult the head of one of the departments immediately. The man had just left for his home in the suburbs. The only occupant of the general office was a minor clerk who, apparently, was working overtime.

"Why are you here?" asked the "Big Boss."

"I'm studying."

Under his employer's further questioning, the young man revealed the fact that he was studying reports and data from the various departments of the concern. Struck by the young fellow's answer, the "Big Boss" piled question after question concerning the various departments, leading for information which he believed only a man in close touch with each department could give. The young man's replies amazed him. They displayed so wide and comprehensive a knowledge of the firm's affairs that the "Big Boss" could scarcely believe his own ears.

Sandwiching it in between other questions the "Big Boss" casually asked for the information he had intended getting from the absent department head. And, with only a moment's hesitation to mentally adjust scattered data, the eighteen-dollar-a-week clerk gave it.

It was his big moment, but he didn't know it then. He realized it a week later, when, over the heads of a whole string of men longer with the office and higher in position, he was placed in charge of the new department.

It had paid him to know more than his minor clerkship had required of him.

An automobile salesman found on the island of Hayti that there were 30 miles of narrow roads through jungles and that one man had five cars in a garage. Only one machine is allowed on the road at a time, because there are no turnouts and the cars would have to climb over each other if they met.

BROWNS TO LAND REAL SLUGGER IN COLLEGE PLAYER

Timothy Bowden, Formerly With Georgia U., Now Has Great Swat Record.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.
Another "Ty Cobb the Second" has been secured for Branch Rickey's 1915 Browns. He is Timothy Bowden, an outfielder, who is burning up the South Atlantic League with the Macon club. He cost Col. Hedges $500 to bring Bowden's signature to a St. Louis contract. He was procured after Scouts Charley Barrett and "Pop" Kelschman of the St. Louis club had given him the "O. O."

Bowden is a college man, having from the University of Georgia, where he won letters in football and baseball. To procure him, Hedges and Rickey had to subvert the Braves, Pirates, Naps and Giants. Bowden preferred to come to St. Louis, something unusual in a ball player.

Here's pleasing information about Bowden: Up to July 20, when the last of July came, he had hit 27. His best of 15 hits in 15 doubles, 10 triples and five home runs. He had pilfered 45 bases, which in any league shows speed. He is 22, 170 pounds tall and weighs 175 pounds. He will get a trial with the Browns after the close of the St. Louis season, Aug. 2.

He's College Bred.

Bowden began his baseball career with the University of Georgia team in 1911, when he batted .281. The following year he boosted his mark to .306. He had never played a professional game until a year ago last month, when he joined the Georgia (Georgia State League) team and in 50 games batted .216. He was the best base runner of the league.

Through Manager Stallings of the Braves the Macon club obtained Bowden and he proved a sensation from the start. For the first month he was hitting over .400. He was a crude fielder but learned rapidly, and there are few pitchers who are superior in the league now. He also has a great throwing arm.

Then Bowden had been signed to a St. Louis contract he said: "For two seasons I played against Branch Rickey when he was coach of the Michigan team and I formed a great admiration for him. Since he took charge of the Browns I always wanted to play for him, realizing that he knew how to develop a college player and in my opinion over the deal and will do my best to be a regular Brownie. I'll give Rickey my best. That's all I care for or should care for."

"Bowden is one of the best looking major leaguers I have ever seen. He is a natural ball player and in my opinion he may be able to jump right in the lineup and stay. He wouldn't care to say that he's certain to that, but he has had little additional experience to keep him in the big show. I think we have obtained a high-class ball player."

Gregg, as a Nap, Beat Browns, but Fails to Deliver as a Red Sock

VIRAN GREGG, who, pitching for the lowly Cleveland Naps, had twice beaten the Browns this season, suffered a severe thumping while officiating for the part Red Sox of Boston in Monday's matinee at Sportsman's Park. The tall left-hander experienced a lively sixth inning, in which the Browns socked him for five runs, putting the game on ice, 6-1.

Gregg had pitched nine balls in the five preceding innings, but the five strikes clouded up and rained base hits all around him in the sixth. Four solid blows followed, with an error came after the last hit, netting five big runs.

Big Bill James hurried for the Browns, and came through with an error. He was picked off by the second baseman, who plucked him from the base. After James struck out, Howard strode out to run down the right field ball. Gregg, who was in the line of fire, was hit in the head by the ball, which was caught by the catcher. Gregg was hit in the head by the ball, which was caught by the catcher. Gregg was hit in the head by the ball, which was caught by the catcher.

WAR SCARE HALTS PLAN OF MORRIS TO FIGHT ABROAD

White Hope Was to Have Sailed for England Saturday, but Deferred Trip.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma kick, white hope, who was to have sailed for England Saturday, is still in this country waiting to pick up a few hundred in the interval. All the fighters now in Europe are expected to scout for home or for Australia as soon as opportunity presents. The bookings will be slight if war becomes general in Europe.

Tom Andrews, the fight promoter of Milwaukee, sends word that Johnny Griffiths, the crack lightweight of Akron, O., and Gus Christie, the Western middleweight, are going to Australia for fights. Both men are to engage in five battles at the clubs conducted by Snowy Baker.

As the boxing game has taken a slump in Paris, Louis de Fontille, the French heavyweight champion, has sailed for Australia, where he is guaranteed five contests. He will receive $100 for each battle, with the privilege of accepting 25 per cent of the gross receipts.

As the manager of Johnny Dundee demanded too much money for his man to box Willie Beecher at Vernon, Cal., on Aug. 21, Tom McCarey has wired an offer to Tommy Murphy to meet Beecher on that date. Murphy may accept, as he feels certain that he can whip Beecher in a contest of this duration.

He'll Choose the Coin.

F. some Federal League club should offer Bunkum $4000 cash for himself, would Bunkum take it, or prove a loyal chattel and obey the orders of the Federal League? Bunkum would go Federal League, but wouldn't be able to catch up with his old team. Witness the case of Larue Kirby, new of the St. Louis Cardinals, for whom the Cubs almost paid $10,000.

War Trims the Fighters.

JOHN ARTHUR JOHNSON, our night-shade heavyweight champion fighter, is about to be up against it again, together with all American and other fighters now in Europe. If war continues long, there won't be enough men in all Europe to buy new gloves for a title fight.

Johnson has a ready-made future in fight for him. If he can get away with all the soft things. These include contests with Sam Langford, Gunboat Smith, Georges Carpentier and perhaps Jess Willard, at $20,000 each. Johnson is the only left with the ghost of a show in the "heavy money" division.

Fine for Australia.

PROBABLY this is all wiped out, with the war cloud overhead. Carpentier, no doubt, will be called to the army. He is now in the hands of the French. Johnson, a French citizen now, may have to show some of his fighting qualities in a way not agreeable to him.

Australia is the land that will have to take care of all this surplus talent and the rest of the world. There should be a boost in the world, provided the war lasts a considerable time.

Chiefs on Easy Street.

THE management of the Chicago Federals announced yesterday that enough receipts had been taken in to defray all the club's expenses for the year. Winter also comes into the office with "valve" or net profits.

The season has nearly two months more and in that time the club's chiefs should have an obese bank roll.

Oh, Such a Difference!

No such condition prevails here. The long, profitless home stay wiped out the early receipts of the St. Louis Cardinals, and the chance that so much money will be taken in at the home grounds, unless a marked improvement in the playing of the club is shown before it returns to this city. At that, the club hasn't started to death. Its receipts out of town have been good, and the team, while it may finish few thousand dollars to the bad, will not drop any such sums as estimates of the wild have made out. It has been figured that the St. Louis club would lose anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000, but that's exaggeration. Receipts in other cities around the circuit have saved the day for the St. Louis magnates, who will get out with a very reasonable shortage, as matters now shape up.

The mystery of the situation is how the owners can figure they will get away with a money-making season with three big teams despatching to this city.

Lutz's only one crowd in this city, and when you divide it three ways you haven't got operating expenses. Besides, he can't get off every afternoon.

CARDINALS SIGN LUTZ, STAR OSHKOSH HURLER

OSHKOSH, Wis., Aug. 4.—Eddie Herr, scout of the St. Louis Cardinals, has signed "Smoky Joe" Lutz, the star hurler of the Oshkosh (Wisconsin-Illinois League) team. Lutz has won 17 games, lost six and tied one. Herr is pleased with Lutz's showing and believes he will prosper under Manager Huggins.

It's the voice of old Alibi, hear him complain. "We're having tough luck. I'll proceed to explain. The whole bloomin' team has been put on the blink. Because of a change in the water we drink. "We're accustomed to play where the weather is warm. Which largely explains our reversal in form. At home we were used to a shivered and freeze! While here we do nothing but shiver and freeze!"

"Our batters are hitting the ball on the nose. But straight to the hands of some fielder it goes. They've robbed us of homers and triples and such. Till now it's no wonder the boys are in Dutch."

"Far be it from me to complain of the 'umps. And say they're to blame, when we're getting our bumps. But enough is enough and I hate to be jobbed. Held up, second-storied, 'door-matted' and robbed."

"No wonder the team is beginning to slip. When three of our pitchers are down with the pip: Our hard-hitting catcher has had quite a spell. And even our mascot is not very well."

"Our .300 hitter has laid down his bat, on account of the death of his uncle's pet cat. Whose funeral took place at a quarter of three. He buried him under a sycamore tree."

The future I view with the greatest alarm: Our hospital list is as long as your arm. The end of the season is now drawing so I guess we'll begin to build up for next year!"

YOUNG GIANT TAKES HURDLE TO THE FEDS

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Robert B. Ward, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, confirmed the report that the Brooklyn club had signed Jimmie Foxx, the young giant who was recently sold to the Giants by the Bloomington (Ill.) club. The report from Bloomington states that Foxx received an offer today from Fight Promoter Forthright and quickly accepted it. The deal will be held on Sept. 1.

One Pennant Race Over.

One pennant race is already settled. Emporia is the best team in the Kansas State League. The season has several days to run yet, but Emporia can lose all its remaining games and still win the flag. The demands of harvesting account for the short season in Kansas.

Good Chance, Weak Hopes.

The Cubs today move over to the Polo Grounds while the Cardinals engage in battle in Brooklyn, and if the hirings of Huggins can beat the Dodgers they should advance rapidly. But with a second-string team, what can one expect?

Weak Hitting Hurts.

But really that isn't where the game was lost. The defeat, like several others on this trip, might properly be charged to the batting slump of Chief Wilson and Jack Miller. In four games with Boston, Miller went to bat 14 times and made two fouls, one a scratch infield blow and another clean hit. Wilson, who had faced the Boston pitchers 15 times and didn't get anything that remotely resembled a home run, fanned three times in the series, twice in the pinch and popped to the catcher three times, once in the pinch.

Fourth Successive Victory Over Huggins' Men Helps Boston Nationals to a Genuine Look-in at the Pennant—Hug Has Team of Substitutes.

By W. J. O'Connor, Of the Post-Dispatch Sporting Staff.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. CRIPPLED almost beyond recognition and disheartened by the sad fortunes of war which caused them to lose four successive games to Boston, three by one run, scored in the ninth or extra innings, and one via the shut-out route, the Cardinals are in New York today for a four-game series with Brooklyn.

So far this season the Superbas have won one game in 11 from the Cardinals and there really should be no reason for alarm in the impending clash. However, some apprehension is felt. The players, now superstitious, believe the law of averages points to more trouble here. They figure that no club can hope to exercise the same away over another team that the Cardinals have over the Superbas this year. It seems about time for Brooklyn to rise up and strike.

The truth is the Cardinals expect further disaster. They "allow" as how it's time for Brooklyn to win, and they expect to be the victims of the rejuvenation of Wilbur Robinson's previous disappointments.

This Is on the Level.

The Cardinals are in a bad frame of mind. They have just finished a series in which they experienced the worst run of bad luck any club ever suffered in the same number of days. When Artie Butler booted Johnny Doherty's infield tap in the ninth inning yesterday and let George Tyler score the only run of a grueling pitchers' battle, the players almost broke down.

In four games with the Braves they were beaten twice in the 11th inning, once in the tenth, and suffered one shutout. In the whole series they scored four runs.

They seem as helpless at the bat as the weakest minor leaguers anywhere. A slight disposition on Manager Huggins' part today to make a switch in the batting order, by putting Doherty in the lead, might have helped. However, Doherty is playing the best game of his career and came through yesterday with two average blows, and yesterday got the only other hit off Tyler.

Magie in Great Form.

Magie's defensive game also is above reproach. He is covering more ground than the new Grand Central Station and has the speed and aggressiveness on the bases to make him the one worthy warrior under Huggins' colors. If it were possible to play Doherty and Huggins would unhesitatingly place Magie at second and shove Miller back to short, with Butler on the bench. However, Doherty isn't ready and the present arrangement probably will hold forth for another few days.

The Cardinals had another opportunity yesterday to humiliate the leaders of New York being unable to do better than break even with the Reds, who managed to take the lead in the eighth, but the Cubs maintained their two leads lead on the Cardinals, who couldn't score a run behind Dan Griner.

St. Louisan Wins First Two Matches in Missouri Valley Tourney at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 4.—Roland Hoerr of St. Louis, the present holder of the Missouri Valley tennis championship, is generally picked to retain his title in the 1914 tournament, which began here yesterday. Hoerr, fresh from winning the Iowa State championship last week, arrived yesterday and won his first two rounds of play with ease. He played excellent tennis and in the opening round defeated D. Keady Campbell, a local crack, by the scores of 6-3 and 4-6. Later Hoerr took on Lawrence Green, another Kansas Cityan, and won, 6-0, 6-2.

Davison Ober, a St. Louis player, won his match from Arthur Sternberg of Kansas City, 6-0, 6-0. Harry Austin of Kansas City defeated P. W. Clark of Denver, 6-1, 2-6 and 6-0.

American Polo Team Will Not Inade Europe Next Season Because of War

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Tentative plans for a polo invasion of England next year in an attempt to recapture the international polo cup have had to be abandoned in view of the fact that Great Britain may be drawn into the general European war. Polo players and managers are understood to have prepared to finance a team and forward it to England, with Devereux Milburn, Louis A. Stoddard and Harold C. Phillips as the great work on which a new team of challengers was to be built.

With the general European war, these plans have been abandoned, and with them hopes for a great polo season in which teams from England, France, Germany, Spain and Italy were to appear as contestants in connection with the Panama-Pacific Exposition in California.

The Jarr Family

By ROY L. MCCARDELL

The Board of Strategy
Saves the Day

"THE boss sure gave me the hard eye this morning," said Mr. Jarr with a sibilant intake of his breath that indicated he really should worry.

"And Clara Mudridge-Smith told her maid to say she was not in when I called her on the telephone. I distinctly heard her," Mrs. Jarr remarked. "But I'll show her! She can't cut me, when I have been the best friend she's had! Cut me? The idea!"

"Oh, being out is nothing to being dred!" sighed Mr. Jarr. "Now I wish I had taken Michael Angelo Dinkston's advice and not tried to warn the boss he'd get stung and stung good and plenty if he monkeyed with Zareet the occult, or any other of those swindling fortune-tellers. Now they've 'wilsened' with five 'leaves' from the boss's wife and one 'grand' from the old man. A 'leaf' is a hundred dollars and a 'grand' is a thousand in the fortune-teller swindler's slang, you know."

"Well, I warned Clara Mudridge-Smith," said Mrs. Jarr.

"And I warned the boss, her husband," said Mr. Jarr.

"Never mind, dearie!" remarked Mrs. Jarr after a moment's reflection. "It wasn't our fault, but we'll be blamed for it, just the same, and all because I went with Clara Mudridge-Smith on the foolish escapade of consulting a fortune-teller because she thought her husband's love was growing cold when he was stinging with her!"

"Yes," remarked Mr. Jarr. "Why should I lose my job just because the boss and his wife lost their money trusting a fortune-teller?"

"Certainly you shan't lose your position!" said Mrs. Jarr stoutly. "Clara Mudridge-Smith wouldn't wish her husband to know she was swindled any more than he would want her to know he was swindled! Oh, but I'm tempted to tell her about her husband! Wouldn't it be a grand thing to twist him about all his days! Think of him, a shrewd business man, as the papers say, giving a thousand dollars in gold to a fortune teller to 'sleep on and magnetize'!"

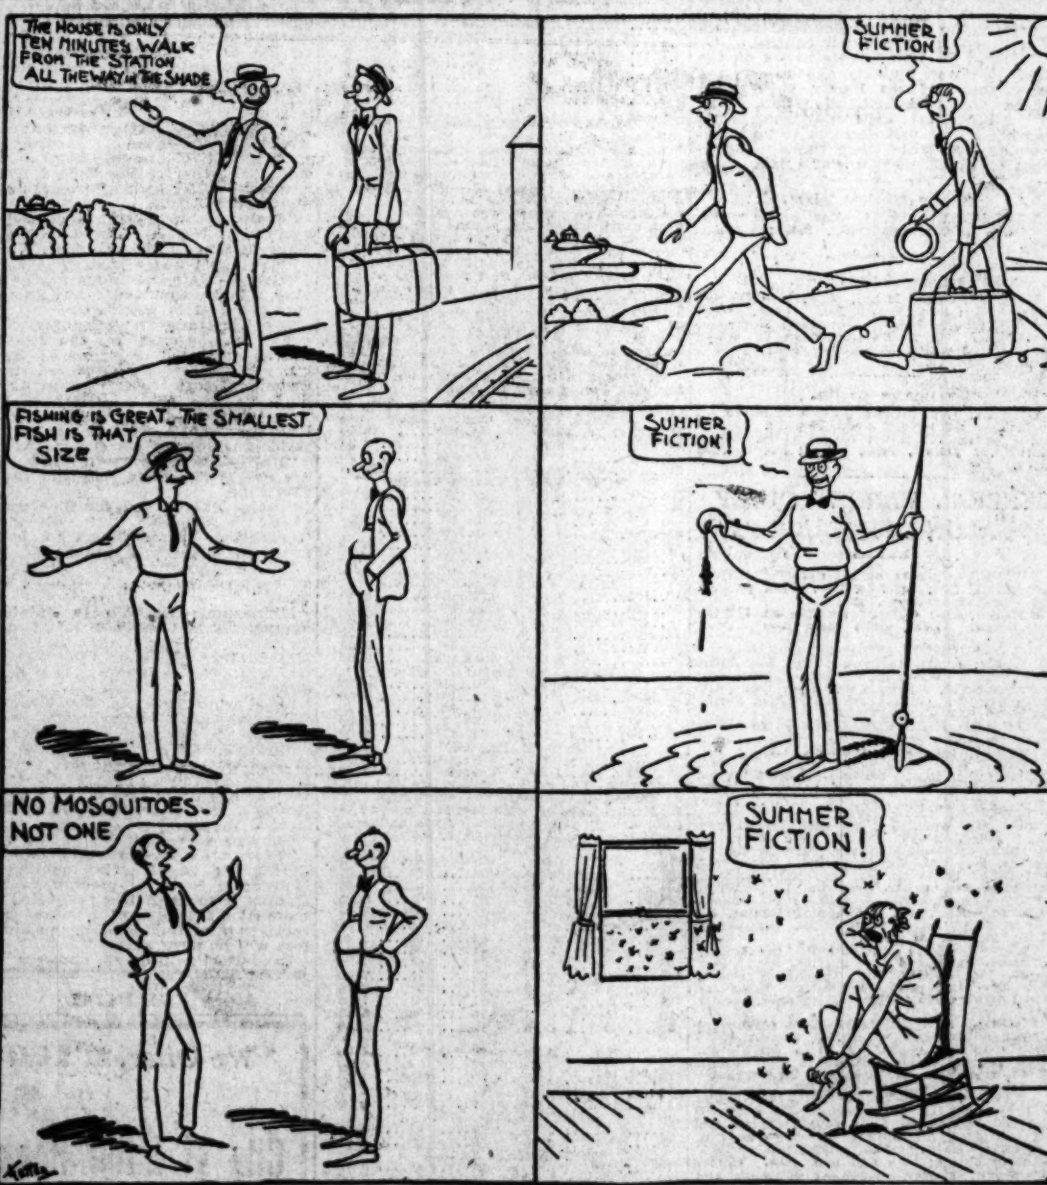

"Yes," sighed Mr. Jarr, "and the boss is an old lightwad that wouldn't give the Archbishop of Canterbury a plugged half-dollar for home missions unless he got a receipt for it." And Mr. Jarr chuckled.

"The bigger they are, the further they fall, the meaner they are with the money, the more they are maced out of!" he added.

"Well, let me see," interrupted Mrs. Jarr. "I'll drop a hint to Clara Mudridge-Smith that I think it is only my duty to tell her husband she lost $500, because I went with her first to the fortune teller. And you tell Mr. Smith that you never keep anything from your wife, and, knowing he has lost a thousand dollars through a cheating fortune teller, you must tell me, because you think I might believe a fortune teller would come day."

Summer Fiction

Drawn for the Post-Dispatch
By MAURICE KETTEN.

"I get you!" said Mr. Jarr. "Lose my job? Say, if business is picking up, as everybody says it is, I'll make him give me a raise of salary for keeping his dreadful secret from my wife and his—for he'd think you'd be sure to tell her."

Mrs. Jarr went over to the telephone and called up her willom friend, Clara Mudridge-Smith.

"Whatever it was she said in a low tone to the maid, Mr. Jarr did not catch, but in another moment Mrs. Jarr was talking very coldly and candidly to Clara Mudridge-Smith. "I'll have no nonsense!" Mr. Jarr heard Mrs. Jarr declare. "So you'd better come over to see me at once!"

Mrs. Mudridge-Smith was on the Jarr premises within twenty minutes filling the air with her denials that she had ever thought even of her dearest, sweetest, most comforting friend in all her troubles!

Relief at Last.

LITTLE LESTER, traveling on the Continent with his mother, grew tired of hearing nothing but French and German, etc., spoken.

One morning, hearing a rouster's cack-a-doodle-do, he exclaimed: "Thank goodness! There's something that speaks English, anyway."

"But my husband!" she sobbed spitefully. "He's a worse old bear than ever! And I know that awful Zareet is a swindler, not on account of the money he stole from me, but because he was not able to magnetize the love impulses of my husband toward me one bit. Why, ever since I found Zareet had run off with my $500 he told my husband we'd never give me a $50 bill, let alone a check! But it has taught me a lesson. I'll never be swindled again! But do you think I'm getting to look old? May-be that is why my husband is cross? Come, dear, and go downtown with me. I've heard of the grandest beauty doctor! Am I getting a double chin? Don't say you think I am, PLEASE!"

The Model.

JOHN SLOAN, the well-known painter, was lecturing on 'Models' before an art class in New York.

"Then there is the frivolous model," said Mr. Sloan. "She, unless very beautiful, is to be avoided."

"A frivolous model brought a friend of mine to employ her."

"No, no," said he. "I only do still life—flowers and fruit."

"Well," said the model, looking up at him reproachfully out of limpid blue eyes. "well, she's 2 a peach!"

Personals and Locals.

BRAD TEWKSBURY has got a spell of hay fever on. Brad has given up spoon vittles and corn on the cob and is stickin' to stuff et with less difficulty under the circumstances. He's had to give up meat, too, because he sneezes so much he can't keep his store teeth in his head.

Rufe Pettibone of Rome City was a visitor in our midst yesterday. He came to see if Malachi Medders could give him some points on bee raisin'. Not betin' to home, Malachi didn't but a couple of his bees did.

Ed Forsythe, who is learnin' to blow tunes out of a harmonica, dropped the instrument in the bran bin yesterday. He says it don't hurt it none, but when he tried to play a tune it was like in-hallin' a patent breakfast food.

Erna Slocumb, who is a batcheller, bought a cake of yeast often Dennis Bros. yesterday. He said as how he was goin' to try to make some bread for himself. Amos Crabb, our local sneerer, says as how that yeast'll be the first thing around Erna's place he'll have shown any signs of workin'.

Carrie Robinson, Mel Robinson's daughter from the city, who is visitin' him, got a post card from her feller, Bob MacDonald, who is a poleace officer. Postmaster Peleg Pease says as how he writ that he missed her turrible and had a mind to visit her. Seth Shutes, our heroick constibule, says as how it would be wuth the young feller's time to come 'cause Seth might give him some pointers on how to poleace.

If you're going to have any crimes committed at your house next week try and hold 'em off till the week arter. I'm going to visit my sister and won't be on hand to do no constabuln. Seth Shutes, constabule.—Adv.

A tramp stole a roobub pie often Aunt Jane Taggart's pantry window still yesterday. Aunt Jane says as how she hopes it's the one she put worm bitters in to tarten it up, runnin' a mite shy of roobub and her boarders havin' such awful appetites one pie wouldn't be enough.

Clem Plunkett of Dry Pond road says as how he had an awful battle with a ten-foot black snake when he was walking home from Hickory Junct. last night. He says as how only for the snake bite cure he'd drank afore startin' home he'd be a one pie wouldn't be enough.

Great Chorus.

Librettist: That's a great chorus they have in the new show at the Calcium Theater.

Critic: Yes. I knew it would be a success before the curtain had gone up two feet.—Life.

Jenkins: "It certainly would be a short cut, my dear, but after all, it may be best that we respect the sign."

The Daily Reminder.

LOTS of the fellows rear-ling back on their dignity aren't doing much more than blocking progress.

Convinced.

D O you believe in second marriages? "Absolutely and emphatically no."

"Would you mind giving me your reasons?"

"I've been married twice."

Many a town could call itself "The city beautiful" if it wasn't for the people in it.
